

Herbert Hoover Says Policy Of National Regeneration Vast Casualty to Liberty

RETURN TO GOLD STANDARD WILL BRING RECOVERY

Experimenting Holds Out No Promise Of Success

Chicago, Sept. 27.—(P)—The Federal Reserve Board tonight disclosed that it had told its "board" "no real recovery" can be had, all the country returns to the gold standard.

The council, in a statement made public by Walter Lichtenstein, vice-president of the First National Bank of Chicago and secretary to the council, took a stand against inflation, and said "further monetary experimentation holds out no promise of success."

Lichtenstein said the council adopted the statement in a meeting in Washington, D. C., Sept. 18. The council in a statutory body bound by the Federal Reserve Act "to confer with the Federal Reserve Board on general business conditions."

The council's advice to the Reserve Board was to oppose any system of "compensating dollar." It expressed the conviction that a currency of fluctuating value will not materially affect the general price nor will it adjust the discrepancies between the prices of different commodities.

It said further, "Higher national income can be brought about by money manipulation but only through increased volume of business and employment which will come in the future as always in the past when private capital is again assured that it can safely and profitably be put to work."

Concerning the gold standard the statement said "no real or permanent recovery can be had, or can be reasonably hoped for until the country has been placed on a sound financial basis, and that such sound basis necessarily implies a standard gold dollar of definitely and permanently fixed gold content, with other forms of currency redeemable at all times in gold bullion in the amount so fixed."

"The council believes that joint or similar action by other important commercial nations is highly important and that such international action is extremely improbable on any other than a gold basis."

Also, the council said that "rigid economies should be enforced and candid acknowledgment should be made of the fact that government spending cannot of itself bring about prosperity."

In a hopeful note, the advisory council said "the business organism is again in a position to function normally if it is given assurance of stability."

The council declared that definitely stated program for balancing the national budget is essential to restoring confidence; called government activities in business fields a "serious factor," and said "the steadily mounting government debt x x x constitutes a dangerous threat to public credit."

The council's position was a re-statement of opinions expressed to the board on Nov. 21, 1933. Since then, it said, "certain economic principles have been demonstrated as fundamental and unchangeable, and x x x our true course lies in frank recognition of these principles and conformity with them."

By R. H. Hippelheuser
Associated Press Staff Writer

New York, Sept. 27.—(P)—Herbert Hoover, in "the challenge to liberty," to be published tomorrow, declares the policy of national regeneration "is a vast casualty to liberty if it shall be continued."

The former president, in his first extended dissertation on public affairs since he left the White House on March 4, 1933, sounds this introductory note:

"For the first time in two generations, the American people are faced with the primary issue of humanity and all government the issue of human liberty."

The definition of liberty he gives: "It is far more than independence of a nation. It is not a matter of political rights. Liberty is a thing of the spirit—to be free to worship, to think, to hold opinions, and to speak without fear—free to challenge wrong and oppression with surety of justice."

"Liberty conceives that the mind and spirit of men can be free only if the individual is free to choose his own calling x x x. It holds he must be free to earn, to spend, to save, to accumulate property x x x."

"It therefore holds that no man, no group, may infringe on the liberties of others. It holds that these liberties and securities to constructive initiative and enterprise alone assure the immense need of material, moral and spiritual achievements of men."

Many of the pertinent points on Mr. Hoover's book have been publicly discussed since their appearance in magazine form.

Most extended of all is the section dealing with regeneration and its effect on representative government.

Here, without mentioning by name either his successor in office or the Roosevelt administration, Mr. Hoover vigorously assails "the affinities of the regeneration theory of economics" and "its impact upon true American liberalism."

These departures from traditional American policy, he writes, "can best be determined by an examination of actions taken and measures adopted in the United States during recent months."

"The first step of economic regeneration is a vast centralization of power in the executive," Mr. Hoover sets forth. "Without tedious recitation of the acts of Congress delegating powers over the people to the executive x x x and omitting relief and regulatory acts, the powers which have been assumed, directly or indirectly, include the following:

"To debase the coin and set its value, to inflate the currency, to buy and sell gold and silver x x x.
"To levy sales taxes on food, clothing and upon goods competitive to them (the processing tax) at such times and in such amounts as the executive may determine;

"To expend enormous amounts from the appropriations for public works, relief and agriculture upon projects not announced to the Congress at the time the appropriations were made;

"To create corporations for a wide variety of business activity heretofore the exclusive field of private enterprise;

"To install services and to manufacture commodities in competition with citizens."

Here, without once referring to the NRA and the AAA, Mr. Hoover enumerates further assumptions of power by the executive in the field of these two endeavors:

"To fix minimum prices for industries and dealers; to fix handling charges and therefore profits; to eliminate 'unfair' trade practices;

"To allot the amount of production to individual farms and factories x x x; to destroy commodities;

"To stop expansion or development of industries x x x;
"To establish minimum wages; to fix maximum hours and conditions of labor;

"To impose collective bargaining; to abrogate the effect of the anti-trust laws."

At some time or place, the former Republican president says, "all of these authorities have been used. Powers once delegated are bound to be used, for one step drives to another."

Concerning "regulated industry and commerce," Mr. Hoover says "in this mobilization there has been constant use of the term 'co-operation' x x x."

"At best," he continues, "it is 'coercive co-operation.' Free will and consent, the essential elements in co-operation, have not often been present."

"Ample evidence of coercion is found in the bludgeoning proceedings of many important code conferences, in the changes forced in some codes, from which there was no appeal or refuge; in the incitement to public boycott x x x."

"All this," he writes, "is the most stupendous invasion of the whole spirit of liberty that the nation has witnessed since the days of colonial America."

STAFF STRICKEN
Los Angeles, Sept. 27.—(P)—One hundred thirty-seven physicians, nurses and laboratory workers who were stricken themselves in fighting the recent infantile paralysis epidemic are recuperating from the disease in a general hospital ward here.

It was said today these workers were afflicted more severely than most of the patients under their care, because their resistance had been undermined by long hours and irregular sleep.

Four cases have been classed as "industrial accidents" and all are receiving state compensation.

The ladder down which Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr., was taken from his nursery to his death is shown here being inspected by officers, as one of the clues on which Bruno Hauptmann is held as a suspect. The ladder is of the kind of wood to which the prisoner had access in a Bronx lumber yard.

Handwriting on the ransom note sent Colonel Lindbergh is reproduced in the upper panel. Below are words in Hauptmann's writing from letters to friends. Experts declare both were written by the same man. Stationery identical with that on which the ransom notes were written was found in Hauptmann's home.

Here is a profile view of Bruno Hauptmann, taken as he sat in a Bronx courtroom, waiting arraignment on the charge of extortion. It shows him as the stolid, emotionless type, which he has proved to be in the hours of relentless grilling to which he has been subjected since he was arrested as the kidnap suspect.

CHICAGO POLICE ROUND UP SIXTY FIVE UNION MEN

Continue Search For Person Who Killed Bus Employee

Chicago, Sept. 27.—(P)—Three police squads late today rounded up 65 union men in efforts to find the person responsible for a fatal assault upon a non-striking employee of the Chicago Motor Coach company.

The raid came a few hours after the second death occurred in the long drawn out strike attended by slugging, rock attacks on buses, and the hurling of stench bombs.

Those arrested were members of the Amalgamated Association of Street Employees, Railway and Motor Coach Employees Union. They were apprehended at union headquarters as striking drivers drew strike-relief pay.

They were to be viewed by three prisoners who police said confessed the fatal beating of James Kelly, non-striker, on the promise of a "Mr. Brown," assertedly a union man, that he would pay them $10 each. Union officials denied any "Mr. Brown" was a member or in their employ.

Harried police, because of recent violence in the strike, called a parley for tomorrow in efforts to halt disorders.

Two deaths followed violence yesterday, one of them directly due to an assault. For Kelly's death the state's attorney asked the grand jury to indict three men for murder.

Another death was that of a woman who was struck in the head by a steel pellet thrown through a bus window. Her death was ascribed by a coroner's jury to a heart attack, which her own physician said he believed was induced by the blow on the head.

The three men held for Kelly's death are Arthur Semple, 39, named by the police as the man who fired the shots; Edward Randall, 34, and John Bretschneider, 46, who police said admitted beating Kelly. Two more are sought by police.

The man who threw the steel ball which struck Mrs. Mary Kennard, 65, while she was riding home on a bus disappeared in the crowd on the street. Mrs. Kennard died in her rooms two hours later.

By midnight, all those taken in the raid were released when police said they were unable to connect any of them with Kelly's death.

One of the three prisoners, however, was reported to have given a new confession in which he named the man who promised the trio the money for attacking Kelly. Police started a search for him.

METEOR EXPLODES NEAR AIR LINER

Oakland, Calif., Sept. 27.—(P)—A big air liner and a dazzling meteor flashed through the skies dangerously close to each other east of here early this morning, giving the thirteen persons in the plane a lifetime thrill.

So close did the meteor come to the plane that Archie Anderson, copilot who was at the controls, swerved the ship in what he thought would be an effort to dodge the flaming visitor.

Some of the passengers saw the blinding light and cried out. Anderson suddenly realized it would do no good to attempt dodging a body moving so rapidly and flipped the plane back to its course.

The meteor exploded apparently only a few hundred yards ahead of the plane. The Transcontinental Air Liner, westbound from Reno, continued on to Oakland unscathed.

Anderson said the plane was 7,000 feet up.

"Gossip Mongers Who Invent Tales" Get Severe Slapping From President Roosevelt

Washington, Sept. 27.—(P)—President Roosevelt, asserting that the American people "have both feet on the ground," tonight slapped severely at "gossip mongers who invent tales."

Making one of his first addresses in a month Mr. Roosevelt spoke by radio to the fourth annual women's conference on current problems, sponsored by the New York Herald Tribune.

"We as a people are less inclined to believe those who would create fear or encourage panic," he said. "More and more people are doing their own thinking. The number of poll-parrots in our midst is steadily declining for which we must be very thankful. More and more men and women are looking up their own facts and forming their own opinions."

The president cited an instance today of what he classed as rumors from Wall Street.

In this case he said it was purported that three members of his cabinet, the secretaries of the treasury, labor and agriculture departments as well as the undersecretary of agriculture, were resigning.

Wall Street Rumor
This "rumor" started in Wall Street, spread to Chicago and came back to Washington for verification, he declared.

"The origin of the report comes from what is politely called an anonymous source," he said.

"I urge that every one of you consider and analyze the source and motive back of every report you read."

"It is with a very definite sense of gratification and thanks that I tell you of my conviction that our people have both feet on the ground."

The president expressed appreciation in what he termed an increasing interest by all people in "methods of improving the economic and social lot of our citizenry."

The full text of the president's address follows:

"I wish that I could have attended in person all of the sessions of the conference on current problems because of the wide field of human endeavor which it has covered and because of the distinguished group of speakers to whom you have listened."

The world as a whole is making progress in meeting current problems, because the world as a whole realizes that the problems are new and, as such, must be met with new answers.

"If you were to ask me, I would tell you frankly that the greatest achievement of the past two years in the United States has been the fact that the American people have taken, and are taking, a greater interest in, and have acquired a better understanding of, current problems affecting their welfare and the world's welfare than at any time at least during the present generation. That is a very heartening thought to all of us who believe in the Republican form of government as carried into effect by majority rule."

"In every walk of life in every part of the country, it has become a normal and an interesting thing when two or more persons are gathered together for them to talk over methods of improving the economic and social lot of our citizenry."

More and more people are doing their own thinking. The number of poll-parrots in our midst is steadily declining—for which we must be very thankful. More and more men and women are looking up their own facts and forming their own opinions.

"We are learning to discriminate between news and rumor. As a people we put our tongues in our cheeks when a fact or a series of facts are distorted, no matter what motive is the cause of that distortion."

"We as a people are less inclined to believe those who would create fear or encourage panic. We as a people pay small attention to those gossip-mongers who invent tales, generally with a selfish objective behind the tales."

ACCOMPLICES OF HAUPTMANN ARE BEING SOUGHT

Lindbergh Confronts Alleged Kidnapers Thursday

By Francis A. Jamieson.
Copyright, 1934, by the A. P.
New York, Sept. 27.—(P)—From Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's memory of the ransom rendezvous and the recollection of a feminine swimming companion of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, the authorities strive tonight to trace accomplices they believe Hauptmann had in the stealing and slaying of the aviator's baby boy.

Increasing signs of a police conviction that several persons participated in the kidnapping were manifest as Col. Lindbergh, his identity disguised, personally confronted Hauptmann in the office of the Bronx district attorney.

J. Edgar Hoover of the Department of Justice has indicated progress toward further arrests. Other authorities declined to discuss this phase of the inquiry.

New Clue Appears
For a short time late in the afternoon a new clue appeared in a report by Mrs. Catherine Maurer of the Bronx, that her husband, John Maurer, had disappeared and that he had been acquainted with Hauptmann.

This was discounted somewhat when Mrs. Maurer returned to her home from the prosecutor's office, saying it was "purely a domestic matter" and that neither she nor her husband knew Hauptmann.

Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of the New Jersey State Police, remarked that Harry Uhlig and Isadore Fisch, both friends of Hauptmann, had been customers at a store where the Maurers worked.

The name "John" was bobbed up again and again in the two-year-old quest for the baby's kidnappers, for that was the name by which Dr. John F. Condon, the intermediary, knew the man to whom he paid a $50,000 ransom.

Schwarzkopf said authorities had "followed out everything" Dr. Condon had told them and "so far as we know he has given us everything he knows."

"No one will ever know whether Dr. Condon withheld anything or not," the police chief said in commenting on a published story that some phases of the ransom dealing still were a secret.

Schwarzkopf plans further study tomorrow of the kidnap ladder with Arthur Koehler, a Wisconsin expert, in comparison with tools and lumber from Hauptmann's garage.

An attractive vacation associate of Hauptmann's in 1932, Anita Lutzenberg, was questioned several hours today about the summer swimming party which numbered several others. This was while Mrs. Hauptmann was abroad.

A friend of the girl, John Braue, appeared briefly at the prosecutor's office and then went home. He said he knew Hauptmann "fairly well," having met him in July, 1932.

Hauptmann was walking with a limp at that time, Braue said, but he explained he had "varicose veins" when friends asked whether he had been injured.

"Hauptmann never did have any 'dough,'" Braue said of the suspect's spending habits, asserting that Hauptmann described himself as a carpenter who worked "here and there."

TWIN MOVES TO EXPAND CREDIT ARE LAUNCHED

Administration Would Stimulate Building Program

Washington, Sept. 27.—(P)—Twin moves to accelerate and expand credit for industry and real estate building were made today by the government's two largest financial agencies—the treasury and the Reconstruction Corporation.

Chairman Jones of the RFC, after a conference with President Roosevelt, announced the president had approved a plan whereby the big lending corporation would buy preferred stock and capital notes of trust companies that specialize in mortgage loans with a view to encouraging these institutions to re-build the mortgage market.

At the same time, Secretary Morgenthau, in a special meeting of chairmen of the industrial advisory committees of the twelve federal reserve banks, urged more speed in the handling of industrial loan applications. These committees are supposed to make recommendations to the banks on such applications.

At a press conference after his visit to the white house, Jones issued a formal statement saying the RFC wanted to encourage the organization of privately-owned trust companies that would manage especially in the mortgage loan business.

He said he did not expect the government corporation to put much money into the undertaking, but that it was the purpose of the move to encourage private institutions to help restore the mortgage market to normal.

He pointed out that existing trust companies are banks and under most laws cannot engage in long-term mortgage business.

Winthrop W. Riddich, chairman of the Chase National Bank, was said by Jones to have become interested in the plan and was furthering it in New York City.

"This movement," Jones said, "has the hearty endorsement of President Roosevelt and if taken advantage of by patriotic people of means who are able to furnish the common capital of such trust companies and provide capable management, considerable employment will be created and business generally stimulated, to say nothing of the people who will be directly helped by such loans."

Wallace Hits At Business Interference
Says Democracy Must Be Guided By Justice

By Stephen J. Mc Donough
Associated Press Staff Writer
Washington, Sept. 27.—(P)—The alternatives of a Communist or Fascist state, or of a government that looks upon itself "as a partner with business, labor, agriculture and consumers" were enumerated today by Secretary Wallace.

Explaining his political philosophy in the current issue of Collier's Weekly, the secretary of agriculture made this his answer to those who object to "government in business." Under present conditions, he asserted, there is too much interference by business with government.

"A democracy worthy of the name," he said, must be guided by social justice and social charity—in other words, the greatest good for the greatest number.

Unlimited Competition
"Reliance upon such rules is not the way of Socialism, of Communism, nor of Fascism. But neither is it the way of the freebooter capitalists with their devotion to unlimited competition."

Wallace's article, "The Tyranny of Greed," was taken from his forthcoming book, "New Frontiers." By coincidence, however, his volume will appear about the same time as that by former president Hoover, and will signal, too, a rush of new deal book writing.

Those who have read in proof the books by Hoover and Wallace declare that the latter has undertaken to answer some of the assertions by the former, although not yet having read them. Both volumes have been seen by the monthly choices of a book club.

In his article Wallace chuckled openly at the "New Era Theory of Everlasting Prosperity" which he said was voiced by Republican office holders prior to 1929.

"By 1925 we were well on our way upon the exciting road that eventually leads to destruction," he declared. "We saw security values rise higher and higher under the direction of men in control of wealth. All we needed was faith in the continued prosperity of the country, x x x."

"I am not so much concerned with the number of millionaires and the size of their individual wealth as I am with their power to influence the minds and aspirations of the young and to shape and misshape our industrial progress."

BULL KILLS FARMER
Joliet, Ill., Sept. 27.—(P)—Charles Lantz, 54, a farmer, was gored to death today by a bull on his farm as his wife looked on terrified and helpless.

The farmer, going about the chores on his farm fourteen miles northwest of here, had hooked his staff into a ring in the bull's nose in order to lead him to a watering trough.

Suddenly the animal charged broke the staff and carried Lantz out of the barn, then it turned on him, stamping and goring him.

WINS VERDICT
Oklahoma City, Sept. 27.—(P)—Mrs. Arthur Wilson today won a $15,000 verdict against her husband for injuries allegedly received in an automobile accident.

An appeal will be filed immediately, said Thomas H. Owen, attorney for Wilson.

Both the Wilsons were seriously injured when their car went into a ditch between here and Tulsa.

President Roosevelt Places Two-Board Command Over NRA to Replace Gen. Johnson

By William L. Beale
Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Sept. 27.—(P)—A two-board command tonight was placed by President Roosevelt over the NRA that Hugh S. Johnson once dominated single-handedly.

One committee of six administrative officials was selected to act under the direction of Donald R. Richberg in performing the vital task of framing future policies of the government's relation to business.

A second, composed of two industrialists, two labor experts and a college professor, was named by Mr. Roosevelt "to administer, under my direction" the industrial recovery law.

The white house announcement revolutionizing the NRA of fiery Johnson days was made in two executive orders. One created the "national industrial recovery board," the administrative agency of the future.

The existing industrial emergency committee to include Secretary Ickes, Secretary Perkins, Chester Davis, AAA administrator; the chairman, to be selected by the new national industrial recovery board; Harry Hopkins, relief administrator; and Richberg.

Given Duties
These six were given the following duties:

"(1)—To make recommendations to the president through its director with respect to problems of relief, public works, labor disputes and industrial recovery, together with allied problems of agricultural recovery;

"(2)—To study and coordinate the handling of going problems affecting these activities and

"(3)—To determine, with the approval of the president, the general policies of the administration of the national industrial recovery act."

To the new administrative board Mr. Roosevelt appointed Clay Williams and A. D. Whiteside, industrialists; Sidney Hillman and Leon C. Marshall, labor spokesmen, and Walton Hamilton, professor of constitutional law at Yale University.

To these the president added as ex-officio members, Blackwell Smith, NRA legal adviser, and Leon Henderson, his chief economic advisor and head of the research and planning division.

Colonel George A. Lynch will serve as active administrative officer directly under the board. He has held the position of NRA executive officer for more than half a year, having been granted leave of absence from the army at Johnson's request. Lynch now will stay indefinitely.

The administrative board was picked by the president from men with past NRA experience. All but Marshall were brought to the recovery administration by Johnson.

The two Roosevelt orders were primary steps in an "evolution" method of revamping the Johnson blue eagle structure. The next move was generally expected to deal with the judicial or enforcement phases of NRA codes.

As the president's orders re-made the organization he created, Johnson said in seclusion. His office reported him in New York, rushing to completion a story of his life.

Members of the administrative board will elect a chairman and executive secretary from among their own number. This chairman will take a seat on the policy board, made up of Mr. Roosevelt's closest New Deal advisors.

Williams, whose name was placed first by Mr. Roosevelt in naming the administrative board, is associated with the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco company. He has served for months on NRA's industrial advisory board and now is chairman of Secretary Roper's business advisory and planning council.

Whiteside is president of Dun and Bradstreet, publishers of financial statistics. Formerly a division administrator, he was closely identified with developments of NRA's price fixing policies.

Hamilton has been chairman of the NRA advisory council, a group composed of three members each from labor, consumers and industrial advisory boards.

Hillman is president of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, a powerful unit in the garment industry. Long a labor advisor at NRA, he recently won a distinguished victory when President Roosevelt by executive order slashed the work-week in the cotton garment industry from 40 to 36 hours, effective next Monday.

Marshall, like Hamilton, formerly was connected with the Brookings Institute. At Senator Wagner's request he joined the old national labor board and served as its vice chairman.

Henderson has been at NRA more than a year. His economic policies frequently have differed with Johnson's and lest his views should embarrass the general, Henderson has kept his resignation on Johnson's desk for acceptance at any time.

The Crowded Professions

There has been for sometime a suspicion that the professions are badly overcrowded. Evidence in support of that conclusion is furnished this fall by the limiting of freshman classes in medical schools. The medical school of St. Louis University accepted 148 freshmen from a list of applicants numbering 1,046. The medical school of Washington University took 82 freshmen from among 500 applicants for admission.

It is estimated that about 60 percent of the lawyers now practicing could handle all the law business. If law schools decide to limit their classes, the number of admissions to the bar will likely be trimmed in the future.

The profession of engineering was among the first to feel the overcrowding due to the depression. Many specialized professions have all but disappeared, and work in others is at a premium. The situation is in direct contrast to the period before 1929 when nearly every field of specialized endeavor offered opportunity.

As a result of the demand before the depression, young people rushed into the professions and fields requiring special training. Today thousands of those people are unemployed and other thousands who looked forward to these special fields are blocked from entering them.

The problem is one which only returning prosperity can solve. Opportunity must be restored for those in the professional classes, as well as for those who belong in the trades and the factories. The depression did the same for many highly-trained mechanical trades that it did for the professions. All have suffered alike. Only a revived prosperity can restore the demand for these high-class services.

A War on Weapons

When the Constitution declared that the right of the people to bear arms should not be infringed, its makers could not have foreseen the growth of an underworld armed with machine guns and sawed-off shotguns. Consequently, the new federal law which strikes at possession of these weapons and gives the powerful Department of Justice another weapon on the war on crime, does not run the danger of being declared unconstitutional.

Because of our unwillingness to interfere with the right to bear arms we have allowed the organized underworld to become thoroughly armed for the purpose of pillage and murder, and crime has mounted in this country until the people have become thoroughly ashamed of the record. Now, however, the nation is aroused, and the new law against possession of certain classes of weapons will serve as an effective means for putting an end to organized crime.

Under this law anyone who possesses a shotgun with a barrel 18 inches or less in length, or a gun that shoots more than one shot with a single pressure on the trigger, (machine gun or automatic), must register the weapons he owns with the government. If he wants to buy a weapon in either class, he must pay a sales tax of $200, and if he sells such a weapon the transfer tax is the same. Dealers in these weapons are licensed by the federal government.

The time for registration of weapons already in possession has expired and anyone caught with such weapons is liable to a fine of not more than $2,000, imprisonment for not more than five years or both for each offense. Federal officers are out to pick up criminals who are using machine guns and sawed-off shotguns. The law is one of the best Congress has passed for the prevention of crime.

It Was in Maryland

Politics is taking strange shapes in these hectic days. Over in Maryland the Republican platform, submitted to the party's state convention with good chance of adoption praises the policies of the national Democratic administration and makes a direct appeal for support of the Maryland Democrats.

The platform points out that Governor Ritchie, a Democrat, has not been supporting the administration. The Maryland Republicans have taken it upon themselves to clean up the politics of the Democratic party and have asked members of that party to help them do it, the reward being Republican support of the Washington government.

Evidently politics in Maryland is somewhat mixed. Those who have been contending that both parties are losing their identity and that strange new political faiths are rising to power might find much support for their argument in the Maryland situation. Evidently campaign issues in that state are somewhat confused, and the people are divided into liberal and conservative camps, with Republicans espousing the liberal cause.

After the election it will be hard to tell whether Maryland belongs in the Democrat or the Republican column. What will be clear to all will be the attitude of the people on the new deal policies. Through the nation this seems to be the big question to settle, whether the people want more or less of the new deal.

In some states the issue will be fought out along party lines, as the battle for or against the new deal is clearly drawn between Democrats and Republicans. But Maryland presents a situation where the new deal issue has blotted out party lines. The outcome will be interesting to watch, and it will or should furnish a fair idea of what the people think of the new government policies in Washington.

Similar Captures

A local citizen has pointed out the remarkable similarity between the capture of Bruno Richard Hauptmann, accused Lindbergh extortion plotter, and that of James Edward Hickman, California kidnaper. Both were first made known to police by filling station attendants.

Hickman, who was perhaps the cleverest criminal in the kidnapping racket, made a direct contact with the father of his victim. He talked with officers who were seeking him. He crossed the nation, and was captured only when a filling station attendant became suspicious and told his suspicions to an officer in a rural community. Hickman himself said, "I feel that God's vengeance, and not man's cunning, was responsible for my capture."

Hauptmann has been going about New York for more than two years, living as a respected citizen in a quiet community, no doubt passing on the street scores of officers who would have given much to apprehend the man responsible for the worst crime in the history of the country. All the while Hauptmann was hoarding the marked ransom money and slyly spending enough of it to keep him and his family in comfortable circumstances.

But it was this marked money that finally led to his apprehension. As he had done many times before, he proffered some of it to payment for gasoline at a filling station. The bill happened to be a gold certificate, and America is off the gold standard. That combination of circumstances roused the attendant's interest, and the result is now a part of crime history that will make interesting reading for years to come.

One-House Legislature

A league has been formed in Nebraska to fight Senator George Norris' plan to reduce the legislature of that state to one house. The organizers of the league declare that, under such a plan, the people of Nebraska would be deprived of 75 percent of their representation in government, and that the smaller units of population would have less representation against the greater power of the larger masses of the population.

It looks like the old struggle of country against city in Nebraska, with each side trying to obtain the advantage. Nevertheless, the opposition to the Norris plan have good argument. The legislature of two houses was made the recognized form in this country to follow out the check-and-balance system established by federal and state constitutions. That system has worked well, and there is no reason to abandon it now.

Two houses are needed to give the people ample representation, affording opportunity for both large and small units to have a voice in the making of the laws. Two houses are needed to put a proper check on appropriations, as one house watches the expenditures proposed by the other. Two houses are needed to see that all proposed laws get thorough consideration. It may be possible for politicians to jam a pet bill thru one house, but not thru both. Two houses are harder for selfish groups to control than one house would be.

Senator Norris has sponsored some improvements in our system, such as the "lame duck" amendment to the Constitution, but this time we fear he has overshot the mark. A legislature of two houses is still a good guarantee for representative government.

The New Deal in Washington

By WILLIS THORNTON
Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington—Congressional candidates this fall are going to suffer from chronic curvature of the spine from holding their ears to the ground. If you are secretary of a Society for the Building of Public Roads to the Doors of Men Who Have Invented Better Mousetraps, you'll get an attentive ear for your plan from your congressional candidate.

The rush of responses to the American Federation of Labor's questionnaire on labor legislation is a good index of this receptive frame of mind.

Within a week of sending out letters to the 800-odd congressional candidates in the November election, more than 100 replies had been received, and they're flooding in at the rate of 25 or more a day.

This is a new departure in A. F. L. tactics—getting pledges in advance to support specific things. Formerly the A. F. of L. scanned a candidate's past record, and supported or opposed him on that. Only once before, when they got advance pledges on the Norris anti-injunction bill, did they work in the present way.

Most of the replies thus far have been favorable right down the line of questions on old age pensions, unemployment insurance, work security, health protection, 30-hour week in codes, and public works appropriations.

The National Association of Manufacturers also is circulating a set of "open questions" to congressional candidates which, though more general than the specific A. F. of L. queries, plainly seeks to influence candidates against the "social security" program and other New Deal measures.

Denying any intention to pledge specific candidates to specific measures, the chamber questionnaire takes a back-handed slap at the A. F. of L. poll by referring to such tactics as "un-American and unwholesome domination by maneuvered minorities."

Trouble for Coughlin

Watch for the report at the A. F. of L. convention on the controversy with Father Coughlin over his alleged employment of non-union printers and builders at his Royal Oak Shrine of the Little Flower.

The unions, many of whose members sent contributions to Coughlin were very sore over the reverend's unwillingness to go down the line with them on his labor policy.

Real Kick in This Kick

One of the more effective of the rising number of pleas for the consumer was made here by Prof. Joseph M. Klamon, adviser to Missouri's Atty. Gen. Roy McKeltrick.

Professor Klamon is also a member of the consumers' council out there, but pointed out acidly that he couldn't appear as such because NRA wasn't backing up the councils with hard cash when it came to sending delegations to Washington to make their protest.

Though the protest was made to Deputy Administrator Frank Hecht of the coal code, over coal price-fixing in the St. Louis area, Klamon rapped the NRA as countenancing the spending of thousands by code authorities to raise and fix prices, but allowing the consumers' councils to decline to "mere window dressing" and the status of a Missouri mule, "without pride of ancestry or hope of progeny."

More Freaks for Congress

The capital will see quite an influx this winter of the type of legislator, more common than today, whose idea of a great contribution to national problems was to stalk about wearing long hair, a Henry Clay coat, a five-gallon black hat, unpressed trousers, and a pettifolious air.

One Percy J. Gassaway announces that he will wear cowboy chaps and spurs about the Capital. The eminent Theodore Bilbo, with his promise to "raise more hell than Huey," is the fellow who believes he can tell whether a man is a Republican or a Democrat by the bumps on his head. The supposition being that right now the one with the most bumps is a Republican.

Anyway, the point is, don't pay much attention to this sort of thing. Washington doesn't.

Those who have seen every conceivable sort of freak come to Congress from the odd corner of the country know that such leave small marks on national legislation.

Huey Long may have to come to Washington to raise hell in Louisiana style, but where are his laws? The real work is done and the enduring laws are usually made by the Norrises and Wagners, whose dress and manner would never single them out of any crowd.

Autos have to have horns, but the motor is what makes them go. (Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

NEW STAFF ISSUES

FIRST EDITION OF COLLEGE GREETINGS

The first number of the MacMurray College Greetings was issued this week. The staff for the coming year includes Minna Margaret Adams as editor-in-chief; Elsie Ream as business manager; Pauline Crapp as associate editor; Sue Schaeffer as assistant editor; Thelma Abbott, literary editor; Margaret Whitney, advertising manager; Catherine Mann, assistant advertising manager.

Ruth Wise has been chosen circulation manager to replace Madge Moore, who did not return this year. The Greetings reporters are Kay Gouley, Miriam Havighurst, Rosalind Boland, Jane Adams and Ruth Hailey Doyle.

Ruth Listens for Wedding March

This charmingly lonesome pose—deucedly attractive, too, as they might say in Boston, her home town—soon will be a thing of the past for Ruth Channing, film actress. She'll doff the single blessedness role on Sept. 29 in Santa Barbara, Calif., when she marches down the aisle to wedding music with Hamilton MacFadden, movie director, also once of Boston.

Population Growth Throughout World Important Problem

At the end of 75 years a portion of the world will be placed in the position of fighting for its food if present conditions continue was the opinion advanced by Prof. George Adams of MacMurray college at the Thursday meeting of the Jacksonville Kiwanis club. Mr. Adams' subject dealt with population growth.

Quoting from various writers and students of the subject of population Mr. Adams presented interesting data on problems that may confront the world in the future. If the population increases at the present rate the world will eventually be overcrowded, he said, population checks becoming less and less effective.

He listed the population checks in the past as infant mortality, pestilence, war, abortion, famine, infanticide, killing the old people and cellophane. The food supply increases arithmetically while population increases geometrically, Mr. Adams stated, and eventually the population will overrun the country, writers argue.

During the past years new lands have been opened up and production has been improved upon by more intensive farming, but this can not continue indefinitely it is argued. And in the meantime obstacles in the way of increased population have been checked. Cities have been cleaned up thus removing possibilities of the great pestilences that have swept countries, science has made it possible for infants to have a better chance to grow to maturity, famine is known in only certain sections of the country and the war toll is not so great.

Population of World Doubles According to estimates the population of the world has increased doubly during the past hundred years, 12,000,000 per year or seven tenths of one per cent per annum. Based on this increase 40,000,000 additional acres are needed yearly.

While the world is a long way from the time when there will be more people than there is food the problem of distribution is certain to be a stupendous one, is the opinion of writers says Mr. Adams. Great Britain, before the World War, imported one-half of her food supplies and other countries in Europe are compelled to make huge importations. Japan has already reached a desperate situation with her 70,000,000 people on an area of land equal in size to California.

While some countries can produce food for their increased population for scores of years it appears that within 75 years a point will be reached where there is not sufficient food to feed the increasing growth of people.

Charles Withee of Peoria was a guest at the club meeting.

CLUB MEMBERS TELL OF TRIPS TO FAIR: CONDUCT ELECTION

Orleans Woman's Country Club was very pleasantly entertained recently by Mesdames Jackson, Patterson and Heaton, at the home of Mrs. Heaton.

During the business session an election of officers was held with the following results: President, Mrs. MacKinnett; vice-president, Mrs. Clyde Cox; Secretary, Mrs. Holmes, with Mrs. Stevenson as assistant.

A very interesting program had been arranged on "An Itinerary of Foreign Exhibits at World's Fairs," these subjects having been assigned to various members who had attended the fair. Mrs. Sylvia Strawn gave some accordion selections, which concluded the last meeting of the club year.

After adjournment the hostesses served a very delightful luncheon. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Hazel Wood, October 9, the hour of meeting being 2 o'clock.

WILL ROGERS says:

To the Editor of the Journal-Courier:

Hempstead, N. Y.—Boy its great to get back into a country where something happens. Talk about Japan, Russia, and Europe, why even a society reporter could cover their news. With us something is cracking every minute. Hugh Johnson's retirement? Why that's like Hitler stepping out. Hugh has never put any men to death. But he has certainly scared some of our biggest industrialists half to death. He has cussed 'em all collectively and individually. You told many big guys the truth that had never been told to them before. Good luck to you Hugh. Yours, WILL ROGERS

P.S.—And best to Bobby. (Copyright, 1934)

Proclamation Urges Caution with Fires

Fire Chief Carl Luter has received official notification of Fire Prevention Week to be observed in Illinois Oct. 7 to 13, and copies of Governor Horner's proclamation have been posted at the fire station.

The proclamation of the governor calls attention to the huge fire loss each year, and urges the public to exercise caution in all matters where fire is likely to result.

The proclamation follows:

A Proclamation
The Chicago stockyards fire of May 19, 1934, supposedly was caused by a lighted cigaret thoughtlessly tossed by a passing motorist. A loss of $6,000,000 to $8,000,000 resulted and a much larger loss was saved only by the valiant efforts of the Chicago fire department. Many conflagrations in the United States have been due to similar avoidable causes.

Among other conspicuous causes were matches, defective flues and heating equipment, sparks on wooden shingle roofs, unsafe electrical installations, rubbish and litter.

Every fire, however small, is the possible starting point of a great conflagration. The prevention and control of fire should be a major concern of every community. Fully 90 percent of fires are attributable to carelessness.

Property worth almost twenty millions was burned in Illinois in the year ending June 30 last. There were 18,537 fires reported. Fire bells were clanging somewhere every 30 minutes. A total of 8,330 dwellings, 2,621 apartment houses, 1,007 stores, 279 factories, 1,082 garages and 1,333 automobiles thus were destroyed or damaged. Burns were fatal to 124 persons and injured 464 others.

The toll exacted by fire is too great a price to pay for an evil so largely preventable.

Now, therefore, I, Henry Horner, Governor of Illinois, do hereby designate and proclaim the week from October 7 to 13, 1934, to be observed in the State of Illinois as Fire Prevention Week.

Individuals are urged to give their premises a general cleanup, to see that furnaces and flues are in safe working order for winter use and to correct conditions of any kind which may cause or promote the spread of fire.

City officials and fire chiefs should encourage a practical observance of the week in their respective communities. Fire ordinances should be studied and, if necessary, strengthened both as to their provisions and enforcement. A thorough inspection of business districts, schools, hospitals and other important localities by firemen is suggested.

Fire drills should be held in all schools and it is suggested that in each an assembly period be devoted to a fire prevention program with a talk by a uniformed fireman in communities which have fire departments.

Cooperation in this effort by civic organizations, the press, and the radio is urged.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of Illinois to be affixed.

D.A.R. Chapter Has Named Committees for Another Year

The Fifth division of the D.A.R. will hold a regional meeting in Jacksonville Oct. 4. This will be the first meeting of the year and state officers and chairmen will be present. The hosts will be visitors at the D.A.R. chapter house during the morning session.

The chapter house, the home of former Governor Joseph Duncan, always is of great interest and recently through the cooperation of the board of directors and the house committee, of which Mrs. J. Marshall Miller is the chairman, its colonial beauty has been enhanced by fresh wall paper upstairs, in a colonial design, also painting has been done. The beautiful stair rail and newel post of walnut is an attractive feature.

Soon the chapter expects to observe the one hundredth anniversary of the date when Governor Duncan and his wife first occupied their new home. This house is the finest, in point of architecture, of the early governors of Illinois, and contains many handsome articles belonging to the former governor.

In preparation for the year's activities the following committees have been appointed by the regent, Mrs. M. H. Havenhill:

Program Committee—Mrs. Herbert J. Capps, chairman; Mrs. Carl E. Black, Mrs. William Barr Brown, chairman of music; Mrs. Frank Strawn, chairman of hostesses.

House Committee—Mrs. J. Marshall Miller, Mrs. W. T. Wilson, Mrs. Ella Hembrough, Miss Katherine Barr.

Membership Committee—Mrs. Buffe, Miss Enid Hubbs, Mrs. W. E. Hall.

Science Teachers Will Make Field Trip Near Havana

Science teachers and others interested in natural science, have been invited to participate in the fifth annual Western Illinois Earth History Field Conference, which will be held on Saturday, October 6, in the Fulton County coal region, under the sponsorship of the Illinois State Geological Survey.

The trip will be led by Professor H. R. Wanless, Geologist, of the University of Illinois, who has for several years been making a study of the western Illinois coal-bearing strata for the Geological Survey.

The field trip group will meet at Havana high school at 9:00 a. m., on the day of the trip and will spend most of the day in the field examining rock outcrops, glacial deposits dating back to the Great Ice Age fossil beds, and open pit coal mines.

As on other trips of this nature, sponsored by the Geological Survey, as a free educational extension service, all persons wishing to attend are requested to furnish their own transportation, and to bring packed lunches for a group picnic to be held in the early afternoon.

The field trip group is being organized by L. F. Gumbart, of Macomb, who is serving as district chairman for the trip this year. The Havana trip will be one of a series of six educational field conferences which are being held in various parts of the state, in order to provide teachers with first-hand information on the geology, geologic history and mineral resources of Illinois. Anyone is eligible to attend, according to Mr. Gumbart.

Several business men of this city and surrounding territory were guests at a Preston party held Wednesday night in the ballroom of the St. Nicholas hotel, at Springfield and sponsored by the Central Auto Equipment Co.

An interesting sound film was shown and refreshments were served to the visitors.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

Friday

Jacksonville Rebekah Lodge, No. 13, will meet Friday evening at 8 o'clock. Noble Grandas of other lodges will be guests at a pot-luck supper and program. The supper will be served at 6:15 o'clock. All Rebekahs are invited. Members will please bring covered dish and sandwiches.

The South Side Circle will meet on Friday, Sept. 28, with Mrs. J. W. Sperry, who will also be the program leader for the afternoon.

Mrs. E. O. Mayer will entertain the Friday Social Circle at its first meeting of the season at her home, 706 West Douglas avenue, at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, Sept. 28. All members are cordially invited to be present.

EDDIE SOUZA HEADS TORCH CLUB; FIRST MEETING AT SCHOOL

At the regular meeting of Y. M. C. A. Torch Club held Wednesday afternoon in the David Prince school, plans for the fall and winter months were discussed and the semi-annual election of officers was held, those elected being:

President—Eddie Souza.
Vice-President—Bud Stephenson.
Recording Secretary—Ralph Plois-grof.
Treasurer and Attendance Secretary—Billy Hermann.
Sergeant-at-Arms—Russell Pullam.
Assistant Sergeant—James Wiley.

In addition to the regular club meetings and programs to be held in the school room, the club will again plan to visit factories and various other institutions to get first hand information on how things are made or done. While most of these trips will be local, several out-of-town trips are also being planned. The club is open to boys of Junior High school without cost except as they attend out-of-town trips.

Annual Institute for Teachers Will Be Held Oct. 25-26

The Morgan County Teachers' Institute will be held in Jacksonville Thursday and Friday, Oct. 25 and 26. It was announced Thursday by County Superintendent H. H. Vasconcellos. All sessions of the two day institute will be conducted at Jacksonville High school.

Six well known educators and lecturers will be secured to serve as an institute faculty. The county superintendent will announce the list of speakers in a short time.

The institute is held under the requirements of section 183 of the school laws. All teachers of the county will attend, and the sessions are open to the public.

A directory of teachers and school officers of the county has just been issued from the superintendent's office. It gives a complete list of all teachers, together with directors and township treasurers.

County Roads Given Fresh Oil Surface

Dirt roads are in fair to good condition except where there is fresh oil, according to the weekly bulletin of the Jacksonville Auto Club.

The road from Woodson to Clements Station has been oiled and is now closed to traffic, but will be open on Friday.

There is also fresh oil on the road from New Berlin to Waverly, but this road is open to traffic.

The new stretch of pavement on U. S.-20 from Cazenovia, N. Y. to the junction of U. S.-11 is completed and opened to traffic. This road has been closed for several years and its opening will be welcomed by tourists from all sections. The other stretch from U. S.-11 to Skaneateles has been opened for some time.

A bad detour is now in effect on U. S.-60 at Owingsville, Ky. Through traffic from Louisville to Huntington, W. Va., is being routed over Ky.-40 to Paris, U. S.-68 to the junction of Ky.-32 and Ky.-32 to Morehead.

The most direct route to Miami, Fla., is via U. S.-36 to Springfield, No. 24 to Pana, Ill., No. 16 to the junction of No. 129; No. 129 to Effingham, No. 33 to Newton, No. 130 to Olney, U. S. 50 to Vincennes, Ind.; U. S.-41 to Hopkinsville, Ky.; U. S.-41-E to Nashville; U. S.-41 to Perry, Ga.; U. S.-341 to Baxley, Ga., and U. S.-1 to Miami. The distance is about 1,450 miles and all paved.

HOLD HOUSE ELECTIONS
House Elections at MacMurray College were held Monday, Sept. 24. Jesse Phillips of Mattoon, was elected House President for Main and Harker Halls. June Prescott, of Winchester, N. H., was chosen corridor chairman for third main, and Claribel Mooreland, of Potomac, Ill., was chosen for second main. The election of Harker representative resulted in a tie between Mabel Striegel and Leone Milward.

Among the Literberry callers here yesterday was C. A. Beavers.

Now Pay Checks Will Start Again

This group of Charlotte, N. C., mill hands is reading the best news of recent weeks—"Textile Strike is Ended." That means they can go back to work, pay checks will be flowing again, the national guard will be demobilized and they can enjoy the benefits that union officials claim have been won.

Jerseyville Forms School Boy Patrol

Jerseyville—The Patrol boys for the 1934-35 school term in Jerseyville have been announced and are as follows: Paul Long, captain; Merritt Lawrence, lieutenant; Charles White, Elsie Maness, Norvell Murray, Quintin Weddington, Junior Wade, John Robinson, Warren Madison, Gilbert Lewis, Robert Busch, Lawrence Edwin, Fred Bosworth, Hubert Shaw, Fred Cope, James Langley and Clinton Wedding.

In former years the boys were installed by the Secretary of the Auto Club at the respective schools but the plan is being changed this year. On October 20th all of the boys will gather for an afternoon of games and free "eats" furnished by the Auto Club and at the conclusion of the outing the boys will be installed by some one who is interested in the work. The place of meeting and the installing officer have not as yet been announced.

Charles Daniels, assistant principal and coach at the Jerseyville grade school, went to Wood River Monday evening where he attended a meeting held in the interest of the School Boy Patrol work.

O. E. S. Delegates to Leave
Delegates from the Eastern Star chapters in this vicinity will leave on Saturday for Chicago where they will spend several days attending the Grand Chapter meeting of the Order of Eastern Stars.

Among those who are planning to make the trip are: Mrs. Natalie Erwin, Worthy Matron of the Jerseyville organization; Mrs. M. J. Dolan and Miss Mabel Erwin, of the local chapter; Mrs. Wilbur Rowden, Worthy Matron of the Kane group; Mrs. Phil Aderton, Worthy Matron at Hardin; Mrs. H. O. Still, Worthy Matron at Shipman; and Mrs. Doll Duncan, the Worthy Matron at Greenfield.

The women will also attend the Century of Progress Exposition while in Chicago.

Two Farmers Injured
Two Jersey farmers sustained painful injuries while at work Monday. John Drulard was cutting grass at his home when he tripped and fell on the sickle. He struck his right thigh with the blade and the sickle buried itself in the flesh for some distance.

Elvin Breitweiser, of the Delhi community, caught his left hand in a hay rake which he was operating and the top of his index finger was amputated.

Honored at Dinner
Miss Mary Florence Williams was guest of honor at a dinner given in observance of her seventeenth birthday anniversary Sunday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Williams.

The guests included Mr. and Mrs. William Parker and children, of Jacksonville; Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bright and daughter, Miss Elsie, Mrs. Mary Stoeckel, and Miss Paye Darr, of Jerseyville.

Farmers of County Will Take Vote on 1935 AAA Program

Wallace Hembrough, chairman, H. P. Joy, secretary, and Erwin Aufdenkamp and C. R. Gibson, members of the County Corn-Hog committee, also Farm Acker I. E. Parrett and Frank Flynn, president of the Farm Bureau, attended a sectional meeting in Carlinville Wednesday at which the farm outlook for 1935 was reviewed and many points of the adjustment program explained. Men from the University of Illinois and Ernest Walker, a field director for the AAA, conducted the meeting.

J. C. Hackleman, farm extension specialist of the U. of I., explained the government plan to buy fodder and stover. Fodder is defined as the entire corn plant, while stover is the plant with the ears removed. Stover is usually shredded, and for baled shredded stover the government will pay up to $8.50 per ton. For the stover baled but unshredded the maximum price is $7.50 per ton.

Farmers in Morgan county who have fodder or stover can probably realize $4 a ton net, after expenses of baling and shredding are paid. The stover will make three-quarters of a ton per acre. Farmers who want to sell their fodder are advised to cut their corn at once, so that they can obtain the best color and quality and keep all the leaves on the plants.

The Morgan delegation also heard the explanation of the plan for township meetings at which farmers will be asked to vote on whether they want an adjustment program for 1935. These meetings will be held in this county before Oct. 13, when the returns must all be in.

Investigation shows that there is a seed shortage for nearly all crops. Farmers in this county are advised to save their seed supply. At the township meetings cards will be passed on which the farmers will list their seed surplus or deficit in each crop. These cards will be filed and will prove useful in providing needed seed next spring.

SERIOUSLY ILL HERE
Dr. Edward Eller of Mt. Sterling is seriously ill at a hospital here where he has been a patient for several weeks. His wife is attending at the bedside.

Presbyterians to Unite in Autumn Recovery Crusade

The Presbyterian churches of this district are uniting in a Fall Recovery Crusade under the leadership of the Elders Association. The Elders are co-operating with the pastors and members in a campaign of Spiritual Recovery as a "Fall" objective. Launching this program, they have very fortunately secured the services of Dr. William Chalmers Covert, present Moderator of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. He comes directly to Jacksonville from Philadelphia where he has been extremely busy in his task of Moderator.

Dr. Covert has had a wide experience in the scholastic world, is an author of note, and has had a varied experience in the pastorate of more than thirty-six years. He was invited by Herbert Hoover to come to Washington early in 1917 to assist in organizing the churches of the nation behind the food-saving program. He organized religious work in the Spruce Division of the Army of the Northwest Pacific Coast. He was a special morale speaker in France.

Sunday morning at the morning worship hour, the three Presbyterian Churches will unite in the Westminster Church. A special invitation is extended to all college students, and members of the faculties.

Noon, the members of the city churches will be hosts to the members of the Presbyterian Churches in this district. A basket dinner will be served in the State Street Presbyterian Church at one o'clock. All members are cordially invited to bring a basket. After dinner Dr. Covert will address the audience. Be sure to come.

In the evening Dr. Covert will speak in the Northminster Presbyterian Church at a popular meeting to which a cordial invitation is extended to all. This will be a rare opportunity for you to hear this great speaker. The meeting is open to the public.

VISITS MOTHER HERE

Three White Hall Persons Bitten by Dogs Since Sunday

White Hall—Dr. W. H. Garrison is treating three patients with Pasteur treatment for rabies, who have been bitten by rabid dogs. Three dogs have died of rabies since Sunday, and the head of one was sent to Springfield for examination and was reported back as having rabies.

The first dog was a pup owned by the Clarence Martin family residing on Tunison avenue. Mr. Martin heard the dog on the porch early Sunday morning and went to investigate and was bitten on the foot. Later in the morning Mrs. Martin was bitten on the leg by the same dog. The dog died that evening and its head was sent to Springfield.

Martin's dog is said to have bitten a dog owned by a Lockhart family in the same neighborhood. The Lockhart dog bit a dog owned by "Wid" Hardwick, and both dogs died after the Hardwick dog had bitten Arley Wyatt, the eleven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Wyatt, of the same neighborhood. It is not known whether any other dogs have been bitten or not. However, Mr. and Mrs. Martin and the Wyatt child are receiving treatment.

Mayor Dr. H. W. Broberg has communicated with the State Board of Health, and asked for assistance in establishing a quarantine on all dogs in the city and surrounding community, which he hopes to have done at once.

Music Club Season Opens

The White Hall Music Club met on Wednesday afternoon for the first meeting of the club year with the president, Mrs. C. C. Brown on South Main street. All of the thirty-five members except three were present. There were four guests, Mrs. Howard Mader, of Winchester, Mrs. Leona Griswold, Mrs. Francis Piper, and Miss Emma Duncan. The club has a limited membership of twenty-five active members and ten associate members, and the roster is full. The officers are Mrs. C. C. Brown, president; Mrs. Ward Hull, vice-president; Mrs. P. J. Roodhouse, secretary; Mrs. L. W. Hornbeck, treasurer; Mrs. Ed-Ward Silkwood, reporter; Miss Bird Duncan, chorus director; Mrs. Lee Erb, assistant director; Miss Mildred Morrow, accompanist; Mrs. Clifford Seely, assistant accompanist.

The program Wednesday afternoon included a biography of Bach and Mozart, read by Miss Mary Ellis; a reading by Mrs. F. N. McLaren and the following vocal and piano numbers:

Vocal—(a) "Ave Maria," Bach-Gounod. Mrs. L. W. Hornbeck.
Piano duet—(a) "Turkish Rondo," Mozart. (b) "Serenade from Don Giovanni," Mozart. Helen Worcester and Effie Nicholson.

Vocal, (a) "Silently Blending" (b) "The Violet," Mozart. Mrs. Russell Roodhouse.
Piano—"Bagatelle," Mozart. Mrs. P. J. Roodhouse.
Vocal—"My Heart Ever Faithful," Bach. Mrs. Lee Erb.

Hauptmann Faces Court for Extortion Plea

Belts and ties—both articles of apparel having been taken from him to prevent an attempt at suicide—Bruno Hauptmann faced the Morrisania Court in Bronx County, New York, for his once postponed arraignment on the extortion charge resulting from his possession of Lindbergh ransom money. He is shown above in court, easily identifiable by his white shirt open at the collar, surrounded by police and prosecuting officials.

Maye and Miss Allie Welch have moved to the Welch house.

Mrs. Edward Nash is in Greenfield assisting in the care of her new grand daughter, Mary Elizabeth Perdun, a child of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Perdun of Jerseyville, who are at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Manz.

Has Arm Badly Burned

Charles Jones, who resides on East Lincoln street, and has been employed on CWA work on the highway, had one arm badly burned Wednesday morning when he threw some gasoline on a brush pile along the road. He was brought to the office of Dr. Paul Bauer who had him taken to the White Hall hospital where he will remain until his condition is improved.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Gound of Belton, Tuesday, September 25, a daughter, who is the third child. She has been named Luvena Bernice.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Travis Moreland, on the Knudsen Ranch, south of White Hall, Wednesday, September 26, a daughter. She is the first child. The family recently moved here from Kentucky.

Mrs. Sinclair Russell, who lives on a farm east of White Hall, is quite ill.

Mr. Wallbarn is quite ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Charles Vaughn, east of White Hall, near Bradshaw mound.

Betty, the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Brickey, of Hillview, is quite ill with scarlet fever.

IF YOUR BREATH HAS A SMELL YOU CAN'T FEEL WELL

When we eat too much, our food decays in our bowels. Our friends smell this decay coming out of our mouth and call it bad breath. We feel the poison of this decay all over our body. It makes us gloomy, grumpy and no good for anything. What makes the food decay in the bowels? Well, when we eat too much, our bile juice can't digest it. What is the bile juice? It is the most vital digestive juice in our body. Unless 2 pints of it are flowing from our liver into our bowels every day, our movements get hard and constipated and 4 of our food decays in our 28 feet of bowels. This decay sends poison all over our body every six minutes.

When our friends smell our bad breath (but we don't) and we feel like a whipped animal, don't use a mouthwash or take a laxative. Get at the cause. Take Carter's Little Liver Pills which gently start the flow of your bile juice. But if "something better" is offered you, don't buy it, for it may be a calomel (mercury) pill, which loosens teeth, gripes and scalds the rectum in many people. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name and get what you ask for—25¢. ©1934, C.M.C.

CHAPIN LADIES SPEND DAY IN PIKE

Twenty seven of the Bethany class and friends of the Chapin Christian church went by truck to the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Riggs at Pittsfield to spend the day and quilt Tuesday. Before Mrs. Riggs left Chapin for her new home her friends gave her a "friendship" quilt and Tuesday they completed it. The ladies took plenty of chicken and other food and at 12:30 a delicious dinner was enjoyed.

Those who made the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wells, daughter, Peggie Eleanor of Jacksonville; Mrs. R. E. Clark, Mrs. W. H. Fisher, Mrs. Jane Brownlow, Mrs. R. A. Phillips, Mrs. Walter Bobbitt, Mrs. Charles Nerganah, Mrs. Mary Bruner, Mrs. Ed Lear, Mrs. Maud Brewer, Mrs. John Grady, Miss Adella Hamilton, Mrs. Fred Eiler, Mrs. Hy Perbix, Mrs. Ann Ethel, Mrs. F. E. Blair, Mrs. O. M. Blair, Mrs. Lee Cartwright, Mrs. Lenora McKenney, Mrs. E. J. Reams, Mrs. P. H. Ham, Mrs. Walter Woodward, Mrs. Flora Perbix, Mrs. Everett Hymes, Mrs. Viola Ishamel, all of Chapin, Mr. and Mrs. William Riggs, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Riggs and daughter, Billy Mae of Pittsfield, Ill.

Mrs. E. F. Harcelwood, who has been visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry McDonald, left Friday evening for a short visit in Chicago enroute to her home in Los Angeles, Calif.

Elmer Voss and O. J. McCune, of Beardstown, were business visitors in this city yesterday.

A. E. Crum, receiver for the First National Bank in Freeport, returned yesterday after spending the week-end with his family in this city. William Dunlap, of Springfield, was a business visitor in this city yesterday.

Miss Gertrude Wright will be the hostess of members of the Beta class of the Presbyterian church at her country home Thursday evening, at which time Mrs. Glen Davis, formerly Miss Mary Hackman, will be the guest of honor.

Durbin

The annual dog show is being held at Rees this week with a three-day program of interest.

Little Billy Rees who is 11 years old, won second prize in a tractor plowing contest for boys under 15 years of age at the Wheatland plowing meet. We understand Billy lacked only two points of winning first prize and we know he can certainly handle a tractor. Billy has been driving since he was 5 years old and he can handle them as easily as most little boys do their kiddie-cars.

The W.P.M.S. will meet with Mrs. J. H. Rawlings on South East street in Jacksonville Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Jonas Wilson and son, Clarence, of Jacksonville, called on Frank Wilson and family Sunday. Rev. E. A. Hedges of Jacksonville will supply Durbin and Asbury pulpits this church year.

WASH OUT 15 MILES OF KIDNEY TUBES

Win Back Pep... Vigor... Vitality
Medical authorities agree that your kidneys contain 15 MILES of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy.
If you have trouble with too frequent bladder passages with scanty amount causing burning and disquieting the 15 MILES of kidney tubes need washing out. This can be done by the use of DOAN'S PILLS. They get rid of night, lumbago, swollen feet, and aches, rheumatic pains and distress. If kidneys don't empty 3 times every day, you get rid of 4 pounds of waste matter. Your body will take up these poisons causing serious trouble. It may knock you out and lay you up for many months. Don't wait. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS... a doctor's prescription... which has been used successfully by millions of kidney sufferers for over 40 years. They give quick relief and will help to wash out the 15 MILES of kidney tubes.
But don't take chances with strong drugs that take 15 minutes, for they may seriously injure and irritate delicate tissues. Insist on DOAN'S PILLS... the old reliable remedy that contains no "dope" or habit-forming drugs. Be sure you get DOAN'S PILLS at your druggist. © 1934, Foster-McBride Co.

ROUTT AND I. S. D. TO MEET QUINCY ELEVENS

Cardinals Whittle Giants Lead Down to Half Game By Defeating Redlegs 8-5

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The Cardinals whittled the New York Giants National League lead down to a mere half game today by defeating the last-place Cincinnati Reds 8 to 5 in a game which saw very little baseball of championship caliber. The Giants, who had an open date, were unable to defend their lead.

As a result of this combination of affairs in the keenest championship race in the circuit in years, the Cards have an opportunity to tie for the lead tomorrow, when they play the Reds again and New York has another day of idleness. That would put the ultimate decision up to the last two days of the season, when they both get into action again. The Giants facing Brooklyn and the Cards still encountering Cincinnati.

A "blow-up" by Gordon Slade, Cincinnati shortstop, right at the start was the deciding factor in today's struggle. The first three plays in the Cardinal half of the opening inning went his way and he made errors on all three of them. That gave St. Louis its first run and upset Paul Derringer so that he yielded three hits and the Cards had five runs before the inning ended. The rest of the way they had a fight on their hands to protect that lead as Lefty Bill Walker wilted under a Cincinnati attack in the fifth and sixth innings and finally was removed when the Reds stopped just one run short of a tie.

At this danger point the Cards came through with a counter-assault against St. Johnson which netted three tallies, the last on Joe Medwick's 17th homer of the season, and settled the ball game.

Four pitchers worked for the Reds and limited St. Louis to seven hits, all but one of which figured in the scoring. The Reds belted Walker, Dazzy Vance and Tex Carleton for 13 less effective blows.

The first inning told the tale when Pepper Martin hit to Slade and the shortstop made a wild throw; Jack Rothrock dumped a bunt in front of the plate and Slade dropped Lombardi's throw to second; on Medwick's grounder Slade fumbled. Then Bill Delaney and Ernie Orsatti hit a pair of singles and Leo Durocher doubled to send home the fourth and fifth runs.

BRVES WAYLAY PHILLIES 7 TO 2

Philadelphia, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The Braves belted Phil Collins freely today to defeat the Phillies 7 to 2 in the opening game to the season's final series.

A four-run rally staged during an eight-inning shower sewed up the game. Hits by Hogan, Thompson, Berger and Randy Moore and a walk to Jordan accounted for the tallies. Bill Urbanski's fifth-inning homer was enough to give the Braves the lead before that burst.

MAURICE PETERS WINS FOUR RACES

By Orlo Robertson
Associated Press Sports Writer
New York, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Maurice Peters, the current riding star of the American turf, galloped home with four more winners at Rockingham Park today to bring his total for the week to twelve.

The little 17-year-old Brantford, N. D., apprentice, who Monday rode five straight winners, scored with a victory in the first, took the second with a tangle, the fifth with Indian town and the closing event with Gabbo. Gabbo paid the lowest odds of $6.30 while Indian Town paid off at $5.00, Cancel $5.20 and Secular $4.20.

Peters just missed another winning ride in the featured fourth race when he had the favorite, Mrs. R. T. Philippen's Crazy Jane, leading by two lengths turning into the stretch of the five and one-half furlong sprinter. A. G. Tarr's Blue, held at 7 to 2, won the race.

Don Meade and Johnny Gilbert each rode two winners at Havre De Grace. Meade brought home Doskin in the opening event and Back Fence in the fourth. Gilbert won the second with Prince Wick and the third with Accolade.

The old dominion purse of five and one-half furlongs, however, was won by Jimmy Sullivan with Mrs. R. H. Heigh's Brown Twig. Stugal was second and Torrida, ridden by Meade, third. As the second choice to Torrida, Brown Twig paid $5.70.

C. Savard's three-year-old gelding, Sun Monk, was given a clever ride by Johnny Mattiolo to win the red leg allowance purse of one mile at Detroit. Taking the lead at the head journey a length in front of Safe and Sound with Red Roamer third.

Revering in the heavy going, Slim Rosie, racing for Aarens and Weil of Chicago, led a small field over five and one-half furlongs at Lincoln Fields. Spicate was second, a head back, and was followed by Hastinola.

Johnny Maiben, veteran jockey, rode his first winner of the New York season when he scored with J. A. Co-burn's Canterbury at Aqueduct. Held at 11 to 1 in the betting mart, the two-year-old son of Canter finished the six furlongs in three lengths to the good of Mrs. Palatine, the heavily played second choice. Sparkdale was third, another three lengths to the rear.

The six teams which have accepted are Illinois School for the Deaf, Chanderline, New Berlin, Pleasant Plains, Waverly and the home team, Ashland. Two more teams will be invited if two schools which have received bids fail to respond favorably.

There will be a championship division, and a consolation division for teams losing games in the first round. Two games will be played the opening night, and three games each night thereafter.

26 TEAMS ACCEPT
ASHLAND INVITES

Fred R. Prusha, manager of the 14th annual Ashland Invitational basketball tournament, while in the city last night, stated that six teams already have accepted invitations to the tournament this year. The tournament will be held January 23, 24, 25 and 26 with teams and players contesting for six trophies.

The six teams which have accepted are Illinois School for the Deaf, Chanderline, New Berlin, Pleasant Plains, Waverly and the home team, Ashland. Two more teams will be invited if two schools which have received bids fail to respond favorably.

There will be a championship division, and a consolation division for teams losing games in the first round. Two games will be played the opening night, and three games each night thereafter.

Ivy Leaguers Settle Down To Football Business Today

Games This Week:
White Hall at Winchester (Friday, 3 p. m.)

Pleasant Hill at Palmyra, Mo. (Friday).
Carrollton at Pittsfield (7:45 p. m.).
Jerseyville at Greenfield (tonight).
Roodhouse at Collinsville (Saturday).

Football teams in the Illinois Valley conference will settle down to the business of naming this season's champion in three games today and tonight, while two members of the conference go outside the league for their competition. Pleasant Hill, which got the jump on the rest of the teams last week by taking the first conference game from Greenfield, is one of the teams moving out of the league for football recreation.

Carrollton and White Hall, two teams doped to go far this year, will open their conference schedules today. White Hall going to Winchester for a game there this afternoon, while Carrollton packs its gladiatorial armor over to Pittsfield for a game there Friday night.

Both teams, along with Winchester and Pittsfield, have played opening games, and three of the four lost decisions. Carrollton holding Virden to a tie score in its opening game. Beardston defeated White Hall 26-

5. Virginia hung it on Winchester 12-0, and Quincy high drubbed Pittsfield 38-0.

Despite the poor start, most of the teams in the conference have shown potential strength and expect to make comebacks this week. Carrollton particularly is looking for a football upturn this year, and White Hall is far from being counted out. Winchester is getting set to take it on the chin this year, and at the same time give their opponents something to think about for the coming seasons. Coach Andrew Chapman has found a willing bunch of workers, all of whom are under classmen.

Reaching deep into the season, Greenfield has pulled in Jerseyville for tonight's headliner in Greene county. The Jerseyville-Greenfield game is one of those battles that happens every year and one that usually brings out plenty of excitement, in view of the fact that Jerseyville is considered, and is, a natural rival. Despite the fact that Greenfield dropped its first conference game to Pleasant Hill, and was held to a tie by Palmyra, the Greenfield boys are expected to put up one of their best games tonight. Jerseyville dropped its opening game, 25-0, to Wood River last week.

Roodhouse, the defending champions of the league, will go to Collinsville Saturday for a game, opening their season.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The Tigers suffered their first defeat since clinching the American League pennant today when the last-place White Sox belted out an 11 to 0 victory in the final game of their series.

Schoolboy Rowe was the victim of the Chicago assault in a lackadaisical game, marked by frequent Tiger substitutions. He gave up eight hits and as many runs in four innings before Fred Marberry replaced him. The "zip" was not on Rowe's fast ball and his control was poor. He gave four walks and was behind most of the batsmen who faced him. Marberry didn't have much more in the way of effectiveness.

George Barnshaw turned the trick of whitewashing the champions as he earned another $500 bonus with his 14th victory of the season. He was touched for seven hits in all, granting only two in the first five innings, but was able to bear down in the "clutch." The Tigers crammed the corners three times, but he whiffed Greenberg and made Walker ground out to the infield once, made Fox ground out another time and made Gehring pop up to end the game with the sacks filled.

Ray Radcliffe led the Pale Hoes with three hits while Luke Appling smacked a homer in the seventh. Charlie Ehringer's pursuit of the league batting crown suffered a setback when he went hitless on four visits to the plate.

TIGERS ARE READY FOR BIG SERIES

Detroit, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Mickey Cochrane's "Iron Men" are ready for the world series.

After almost six long months of fighting in smashing their way to their first American league pennant in 25 years, the Detroit Tigers will trot out on the field for the first series game with practically the same team that opened the season April 17 against the Chicago White Sox.

Fearing only staleness, in the event of a playoff between the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Giants, Cochrane today accepted an offer of Rogers Hornsby to keep his St. Louis Browns in Detroit next week to provide practice for the American league champions. The Browns finish the season for the Tigers Saturday and Sunday.

Manager Cochrane admits that luck has been combined with stamina and skill in the amazing streak of games in which the same players have participated, day after day, month after month.

"Sure, we've been lucky," the fiery play admits. "But it's been more than luck. The Tigers are a young, strong group of players. They showed they could take it, and we hope and believe we'll go through the same the same way we held through the season."

The Detroit infield particularly demonstrated the "Iron Man" act. Hank Greenberg, first base; Charley Gehring, second; Bill Rogell, shortstop; Marvin Owen, third base. That's been the infield lineup from the first game of the season—with the exception of the Jewish holiday when Greenberg was excused. For 143 days before that time, the infield played every game, and has taken the field in every game since.

Once or twice, in late innings, one or two members of the infield were excused, but this didn't happen often and the next afternoon they were back on the job. The outfield has been the same for most of the season—Goslin, White and Fox. And back of the plate—Mickey Cochrane, playing on days when his ankles and shins were bruised and discolored, when a charley-horse gave him pain at every step.

26 TEAMS ACCEPT
ASHLAND INVITES

Fred R. Prusha, manager of the 14th annual Ashland Invitational basketball tournament, while in the city last night, stated that six teams already have accepted invitations to the tournament this year. The tournament will be held January 23, 24, 25 and 26 with teams and players contesting for six trophies.

The six teams which have accepted are Illinois School for the Deaf, Chanderline, New Berlin, Pleasant Plains, Waverly and the home team, Ashland. Two more teams will be invited if two schools which have received bids fail to respond favorably.

There will be a championship division, and a consolation division for teams losing games in the first round. Two games will be played the opening night, and three games each night thereafter.

BRADLEY ALL SET FOR ILLINI GAME

Bob Wright, Roodhouse Player, Will Get Chance During Game—Illini Expect Tough Battle With Little 19 Team.

Illinois, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Bradley Dykstra, LE, Meeske, Steward, LG, Usnik, Gryboski, LG, Fennell, Sayre, C, E. Harms, Morris, RG, Semlow, Antilla, RT, Bucklar, Beynon, QB, L. Handley, Lindberg, QB, Huddleston, Froschauer, RHB, E. Handley, Carson, Theodore FB, Black, Referee—Howard Millard (Illinois Wesleyan), Umpire—Fred Young (Illinois Wesleyan), Field Judge—Ed Jacquelin (Missouri), Head Linesman—Dr. L. F. Carlin (Northwestern).

Game begins at 2:30 p. m. Free parking places.

Urbana, Ill., Sept. 27.—Bob Zupke's spirited Illinois football players, battling for position, will swing eagerly into action for the first time Saturday when Bradley Tech comes to Memorial Stadium.

The Illini expect a lively brush with the Little Nineteen squad, said to be its best since 1931 when it was champion of its conference.

Approximately 25,000 pupils of grade and high schools, public, parochial and private, and 3,000 Boy Scouts will provide a colorful background.

All pupils will be admitted without tickets. Manager C. E. Bowen announces. However, those of mature appearance are asked to bring letters from their principals or teachers.

Bradley, coached by A. J. Robertson, whose teams have made exceptional records during his 15 years at the Peoria institution, has had the advantage of practice since Sept. 10. Coach Robertson will start an eleven chiefly composed of veterans, led by Capt. Bob Zimmerman of Roanoke.

Another senior is Lee Handley, quarterback, a triple-threat performer, who was voted the most valuable player in the Little Nineteen last year. Handley will undoubtedly be the spark-plug of the Bradley attack, which will feature passing.

Last season the throwing combination of Lee Handley to his brother Gene, was notably effective. Gene will probably start in the backfield and also serve as substitute quarterback.

Merle Berry, sophomore from Table Grove, the fastest man on the Bradley squad, will figure, either as a starter or replacement. Robertson has shifted Ridy, a former fullback, a 192-pound Minnesota, to tackle.

Last year against Iowa, Unik as a starter and fullback and time again turned back the powerful thrusts of Laws and Crayne. Neve Harms, well known all-around athlete, has been shifted from tackle to end.

Ends and center on the Illinois team are still in doubt as Zupke casts his eyes over the candidates but it is probable that Arvo Antilla, last year's tackle, will be tried out with Dykstra, Wright, Waller and Nelson as others likely to be seen.

El Sayre, Frank Barnhart and Steve Polaski are among the centers but the race is still a free for all.

Andy Dahl, reserve tackle last season, has come rapidly this fall and Tiny Morris, sophomore, is another tackle, who may make the veterans look to their laurels. Howie Carson and John Theodore, sophomores, will share fullback responsibilities and Wilbur Henry and Cliff Gano will understudy Jack Beynon at quarterback. Ken Bradley, sophomore, will be one of the first to receive an opportunity. However, many other candidates are likely to be tested.

Bradley's first appearance here was in 1927 when the Illini champions broke the remarkable three-year winning streak of the Peoria Indians. The past scores were:

Academy Will Come Here For Game While Tigers Go To Gem City to Meet H.S.

Quincy Acad. Pos. Routt, McClain, LE, Weidner, Garrelt, LG, Tapoch, Malone, LG, V. Loneragan, Spettengel, C, R. Loneragan, Siebert, QB, Buoy, Buckler, RT, Lacy, Powers, RE, McGinnis, Schill, QB, E. Buoy, Winking, QB, Torricelli, Steinkamp, LH, Lawrence, Keefe, FB, Ring, Place—Illinois College field. Time—8 p. m.

Trading home grounds, the Routt Rockets will take on Quincy Academy here tonight before two bands and another large crowd, if predictions are true to form, while Illinois School for the Deaf initiates its new season at Quincy high school's night lighted stadium. The Rockets, who have won 25 consecutive football games, will be after number 26 in tonight's contest, which is scheduled to begin at eight o'clock, on the Illinois College field.

Coach S. Robey Burns, who has been deploring the new high school association rule which broke up a likely looking team, will take the remnants of the squad he had planned on using this year, plus a whole group of others who were called in to fill up the gaps in the Tiger line-up over to Quincy for the opening battle, convinced that his boys will be no match for the Quincy team. The state association this year has made all Tigers eligible during the semester in which they become 15 years of age, and has ruled that their eligibility end during the semester in which they reach 16 years of age.

Routt's Rockets, aside from planning on a tough set-to with the Quincy Hawks, are also planning on a rather colorful evening. The Academy has indicated that it is going to bring its student band, and some rooters, in an effort to break the Routt string of victories, and already the Routt authorities have made arrangements to have the Jacksonville State Hospital band on hand to furnish music for the Routt rooting section. Added to that it is the public address system which will be used to keep the grandstands informed as to what actually is taking place on the field, removing that vestige of doubt that hovers over a gathering when yards are gained or lost, or penalties are inflicted.

Merle Berry, sophomore from Table Grove, the fastest man on the Bradley squad, will figure, either as a starter or replacement. Robertson has shifted Ridy, a former fullback, a 192-pound Minnesota, to tackle.

Last year against Iowa, Unik as a starter and fullback and time again turned back the powerful thrusts of Laws and Crayne. Neve Harms, well known all-around athlete, has been shifted from tackle to end.

Martin Heinan, above, will lead the Quincy Academy Hawks against the Routt Rockets here tonight in the first football game to be played between these two schools. The game also will be the last the Routt team will play at home until the middle of October.

running combination of Lawrence, Torricelli and Buoy to get the most ground. These youngsters, all went good against Trinity, after they settled down to breaking up the forward passing attack the Bloomington team turned loose.

The Academy has played only one game thus far, turning up a scoreless tie against Warsaw last Saturday. Coach Baptist pointed out to his players that Trinity met the Rockets between these two schools. The game also will be the last the Routt team will play at home until the middle of October.

Although the change in the high school rules, affecting only Illinois School for the Deaf, put a big crimp in the Tiger squad, Coach S. Robey Burns may come up with another of his good teams. The Tiger mentor has a habit of doing the unexpected when it comes to football, and it is very few Tiger teams he has turned out that has lost more than 50 per cent of its games.

He will have six boys who have had some game experience, and will have to fill up the remaining gaps on his varsity squad with players who have been getting their training on the third and fourth teams. Capt. Arlin is one of the veterans, and he will have the responsibility of calling the signals from his quarterback position.

Zehnder, who played end last year, but who has been shifted to a halfback, Wildrich, a back last year, Goldsand, guard, Karol, center, and Pepperman, tackle, are the veterans on the team. Orman probably will be the new man in the backfield, with Lisek teaming up with Pepperman at tackle. Barabornyski, the open guard position, and Toricay and Wells, ends.

Other players who will make the trip are Ralph Johnson, Eldon Crass, Charles Camm, Jerry Dioro, George Keck, Bob Madison, Wayne Otten and Carl Sullivan.

(After the manner of Ben Kirn with apologies to his memory.)

If I should die tonight
And you should come
To my cold corpse and say,
Weeping and heartless o'er
My lifeless fall
That Jacksonville had won a
Football game,
I might arise in my large
White cravat and ask,
What's that?

If I should die tonight
And you should come
To my cold corpse and kneel,
Clasping my bier to show
The grief you feel,
I say if I should die tonight
And you should come to me
And there and then,
Just even hint that
Jacksonville had won a game,
I might arise the while,
But I'd drop dead again.

The above may be remembered by some of you oldsters, but it was printed before this column's time. It appeared in the Jacksonville Courier, we don't know when, and it was handed us yesterday by another lad who probably doesn't recall the time it was printed either.

Raymond Lacy, tackle on the Routt high team, pulled the clipping out of a sheaf of papers yesterday afternoon and handed it to us. He said some one gave it to him explaining that it was written back in those lean years when none of the teams in this city were winning football games.

It may be a bit premature to use it now, with this season just getting underway, but the sort of spirit a poem (?) that type of literary effort.

GIANTS TRYING TO SHAKE "JITTERS"

By Eddie Briets
Associated Press Sports Writer
New York, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Manager Bill Terry gave his skidding Giants a holiday today, hoping the lay-off would help them get a grip on themselves and shake off the jitters which are threatening to knock them out of the National League championship.

Today and tomorrow are open dates on the schedule. Then the official curtain will ring down with two all-important tussles with the Dodgers, Saturday and Sunday, at the Polo grounds.

BILL LEE BEATS PIRATES 4 TO 2

Chicago, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Bill Lee pitched the Cubs to a 4 to 2 victory over Pittsburgh today in the opening game of their series and handed the Pirates a setback in their belated fight for fourth place.

The Pirates now trail the Boston Braves, who won today, by one game and a half, with three games to play. Lee, hit hard in the early innings, steadied and allowed only two hits during his last five frames to record his season's 13th victory.

G.O.P. Nominees to Bear Down Heavily on New Deal Policy

By CECIL B. DICKSON

Washington, (AP)—Spectacular contests over the "new deal" are being fought in most of the 32 states where 34 senators are to be elected in November.

Leaders of the Republican organization, basing the political future of their party on opposition to the "new deal," have issued an urgent call to their candidates to bear down on the Roosevelt policies with everything they have.

Generally, the old guard Republicans have responded. But independent Republicans, on the whole, are approving parts of the Roosevelt program that fit their ideas of government and are frowning on some of the Republican policies.

Happy in the knowledge that they already are assured of a majority in the next Senate, Democratic leaders say they are going to eliminate a number of old guard Republican senators besides retaining all their own seats.

Some observers see signs that the Democratic drive may menace the seats of some progressive Republicans, who have been friendly to the Roosevelt administration. Postmaster General Farley, after a swing through the northwest, predicted "the Republican party in the Senate will sink to the lowest level since Buchanan's administration."

In the present Senate, Republicans fill 35 seats, of which 16 are at stake in the November elections. Eleven of the 16 are now held by old guard Republicans and among these Democrats say they will make gains.

Lions Club Honors William Robinson

William Robinson, charter member of the Lions club here, is leaving Mount Vernon, N. Y., where he has resided for the past five years. During his stay in Mount Vernon he never missed a meeting of the Lions club, except during two months when he was in England. On his departure the Mount Vernon club paid him a farewell tribute and presented him with a traveling bag.

Mr. Robinson, who has been living with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Armitage, is going with them to Chicago, where Mr. Armitage will be assistant manager of a Kroger store. Mr. Robinson was for many years an employee of Swift & Co. in this city.

He joined the Lions club at its organization and was always active, serving as the club song leader. When he removed to Mount Vernon he continued his club affiliation and became interested in welfare projects. He sponsored a cigaret fund for disabled soldiers.

Talk Plan For State In Future

Commission Looks Forward to Changes to Be Needed When Population Reaches Ten Million Mark.

THORO STUDY IS MADE

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Illinois, one of the richest of the states, is looking forward to the time when its population may be ten million and is planning for the economic, social and governmental readjustments that may be necessary.

A long series of surveys was being studied today by members of the Illinois state planning commission in considering future policies.

Studies so far as incomplete, but "Illinois tomorrow," a tentative survey, is based on the expectation that by 1960 the state's population will be near the ten million mark.

Illinois, with 7,630,654 persons in 1930, is expected to hold and perhaps increase its relative position in the nation.

The planning commission, appointed by Governor Horner nearly a year ago, is seeking "to aid in formulating a permanent project of state planning, looking toward co-ordinated action to assure economic security, sound social institutions and wise physical development."

The chairman, Director Robert Kingery of Public Works and Buildings, emphasized that no definite conclusions have been reached. Activities have been confined to the making of surveys, some completed and others launched at its instigation.

The planning activities, paralleling similar work by the federal government, deal with such topics as economic security and purchasing power, educational improvement, public health, use of land, industrial markets, transportation, public works, government and taxation.

Has Leading Position Accompanying data to show that Illinois has a leading position in resources and prospects, the commission's tentative report said:

"Nearly all of the older eastern states long ago passed their top in percentage of the United States population."

"Illinois reached its peak at 6.5 percent about 1870, but instead of declining markedly after that date it has maintained its position in this regard and even shows a current tendency to increase its proportion of the nation's total population, in spite of the great migration on westward."

"When the localization of agriculture, industry and commerce in this country has become fairly stabilized, when the great migrations have been completed and when the distributions of population have correspondingly become stabilized, Illinois will have to accommodate and will have the purchasing power of at least nine or ten million people, and quite possibly more than that. Future studies will help clarify this forecast."

With a reference about consolidation of counties, the statement was made that 87 of the 102 county seats have already lost their importance as trading centers.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Dickinson of Lynnville were among the Thursday visitors here.

close attention of the audience as she fluently and entertainingly spoke of the value of the articles as an aid to efficient work. She pointed out the growth of the magazine from a small pamphlet to the fine periodical of today, which is sent to every president.

Mrs. Pagenta gave a brief resume of the contents of the September number in which she mentioned the well written articles on such subjects as "Send Your Child to Nursery School," "On President Roosevelt during his campaign for the Presidency often said, "Now let us be frank." So, let us be frank.

Possibly, you, yourself are suffering from the effects of improperly fitted shoes in childhood. Possibly you know how weakened arches, hammer toes, bunions or corns affect your efficiency.

Surely you want your children to avoid what you may be going through with. Now is the time to do it—while they are still young and their feet still growing.

had ended at the district attorney's office, the importance of Miss Lutz's questioning and that of other Hauptmann acquaintances was minimized by attacks but it was regarded as significant that Miss Lutz returned after lunch.

"We always called him Dick," Miss Lutzberg had said of Hauptmann as detectives studied pictures of her and the prisoner in a family album. "Everybody knew him that summer at Hunter's Island. All the girls liked him."

But in the party—she said—was a "mysterious John"—a man who seemed to have something on his mind. "He almost never said anything," the girl commented on "John."

John, she said, was "Dick's closest friend and Dick was the only friend John had."

About half the industrial employees of the country are controlled by 200 large corporations, Wallace asserted, adding, "you can easily see what hindrance to progress, what economic and social chaos we can be subject to, in a moment of fear these few industrial leaders and managers turn their backs on the common good in order to preserve property earnings and high salaries."

A necessity for changing the rules of government has existed since 1920, he contended.

GOSSIP MONGERS GET SLAPPING FROM PRESIDENT

"You and I as sensible Americans know of daily instances which mar rather than help our efforts for calm discussion of current problems. Just for example, I cite one which occurred this very day. A rumor which started in Wall street, spread to Chicago, and came back to Washington for verification. The rumor was the immediate retirement of three members of my cabinet—the secretary of agriculture and his undersecretary, the secretary of labor and the secretary of the treasury. It even went to the extent of announcing the name of a new secretary of the treasury."

"The origin of the report comes from what is politely called 'an anonymous source.' I urge that every one of you consider and analyze the source and motive back of every report you receive."

"Fortunately the overwhelming mass of American people pay no more attention to this kind of rumor than I do. Today's story happens to be wholly untrue."

"It is with a very definite sense of gratification and thanks that I tell you of my conviction that our people have both feet on the ground; that they are increasingly interested in the truth and increasingly interested in arriving at sound conclusions regarding our national progress in meeting current problems."

"For that reason I am glad to have this opportunity of sending my greetings to a gathering of intelligent men and women, who know how to discriminate in making up their minds about the current problems of American life."

WASHINGTON MACHINE SALES INCREASE

Chicago, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Household washing machine shipments in August totaled 111,808 units, largest August sales in the industry's history with the exception of 1933, J. R. Bohnen, secretary of the American Washing Machine Manufacturers' association, reported today. The August total last year was 144,092. In August 1929 a total of 89,023 units were shipped, next highest figure for the month.

Bohnen said August shipments show an increase of 30 percent over the preceding month and that shipments for the first eight months of this year were 877,251, or 53 percent more than the corresponding period of 1933.

August shipments of home ironing machines totaled 11,039 compared with 8,682 in July and 7,812 in August, 1933. Ironer shipments thus far this year are 86 percent head of the corresponding period last year.

GIRL IN THE FAMILY

BY BEATRICE BURTON

SYNOPSIS
Susan Broderick and her aunt, Luitie, who had seen more prosperous times, order a pillow at Hart's department store where the family had a charge account for years. They are summoned to the office of the manager, Mr. Dillon, who informs them the account has been discontinued as it had not been paid for five months. Susan and Luitie leave in embarrassment. Luitie goes home by trolley but Susan prefers to walk. En route, the latter meets her fiancé, Wallace Steffen, rising young banker. Susan and Wallace are distinctly different types; he is the sheltered, meticulous type while she is the kind who loves to walk in the rain and go without gloves in the winter. Tucking his car robe around Susan, Wallace says he will take care of her whether she wants him to or not.

CHAPTER III
"Oh, I want you to want to take care of me. Anything to please a gentleman!" Susan answered airily. But under her lightness ran the sudden thought that Wallace really would take care of a woman if he loved her. His wife would be able to lay all her burdens on his broad shoulders, knowing that he would bear them. There would never be any shameful scenes for her such as the scene in Mr. Dillon's dreadful little grimy-carpeted cage that afternoon. Wallace's wife's charge account would be paid up on the tenth of every month. She would have the dignity and the peace that a full pocketbook brings with it.

"Any gentleman, or just me, Susan?" he asked and her as the car rolled out into the rear and light and movement of Fifth Street and took its place in a long line of automobiles that trailed out behind a trolley car like the tail of a comet.

"Just you, Wallace. Nobody but you."

For a year and a half she had done everything she could to please and attract him. She had made a business of it, almost; learning to play bridge with him, doing her best to be interested in the things he told her about the bank. Things about second mortgages and real estate values and properties in escrow. Grooming herself with great care every Tuesday and Friday and Sunday nights for his eyes, walking around the Country Club golf course with him on occasional Saturday afternoons to watch him play, going to the moving pictures to see "westerns" with him when the only kind of picture she really liked was a love story done in luxurious settings.

But that, according to her Aunt Edna Broderick, was a girl's great job in life. To attract the man she wanted and lure him into marriage. Only Aunt Edna never used so ordinary a word as "lure." She said "seduce." Instead, "A woman's highest destiny, Susan, is to marry the man of her choice." Susan could almost hear her saying it now above the singing sound of Wallace's automobile tires on the snowy pavement.

Under the Scotch plaid robe his right hand found her left one and held it. "You do like me a little bit, don't you, Susan?" he asked.

"Of course, I do," she smiled at him sideways, a smile that said that she liked him a great deal. "More than just a little bit."

They had left the tall downtown buildings behind them and were in a region of small houses and neighborhood stores. At a corner where a little stone church stood, its lighted windows cutting golden rectangles into the darkness, he stopped suddenly and turned off the engine of the car.

He turned in his seat to look at her. "Just how much, Susan?" he asked, and before she had time to answer, he took her in his arms and fastened his mouth on hers. He smelled pleasantly of cleanliness and tobacco and shaving lotion, and the sleeves of his Oxford gray overcoat were as warm as the arms of a big over-stuffed chair as he held her. She leaned back in them with a great feeling of security and comfort. How solid he was, how reliable, how safe!

"Susan, I'm crazy about you," his voice murmured into her ear. "I had a tense trembling quality that made it sound utterly unlike Wallace's ordinary voice, which was deep and quiet. 'I'm going to marry you, dearest'—then suddenly he straightened away from her as a sudden thought struck him.

"You want me to, don't you? You really do care for me a little, don't you, Susan? You're sure of yourself?"

Susan laughed at the sudden anxiety in his voice.

"Why, Wallace, you know that I never even see any man but you," she said. "I've never cared the least bit for anyone else."

She might have added that he was the only man she had ever known well, with the exception of the men in her own family. Long ago there had been boys who had danced with her at class parties and asked if they might come to see her, but her father and the rest of the family had put their foot down and said, no, she was far too young to have young men callers. Particularly the kind of young men who came to the North Side High

I. C. Coach Arouses Old Battle Spirit

Firing the whole Illinois College student body with the enthusiasm to win, Coach Ray Nusspickel Thursday delivered a pep talk at an I. C. assembly such as few coaches ever succeed in doing in their frantic exhortations between the halves of a thrilling gridiron contest.

Pleading for whole-hearted support of the teams by all of the Hilltop students, Nusspickel predicted not one but four Little Nineteen championships for Illinois College athletes this season. He said that it was his sincere belief that the Blueboys "had the stuff" to capture the highest laurels in football, basketball, baseball, and swimming.

Coach Nusspickel praised the spirit and the "fight" of the forty candidates for the I. C. varsity football team, but said that success in the championship drive depended upon the loyal backing of everyone on the campus.

Urging all students to be enthusiastic, not only concerning sports, but also in their studies and work, he tersely warned, "Don't beat yourselves!"

The man with enthusiasm, spirit, and drive will overcome almost any obstacle, Nusspickel said. No person without ambition will succeed in life, he added.

He concluded his stirring talk by calling for a clean-cut victory over North Central on Oct. 6.

After Coach Nusspickel's speech, the assembly stood and sang the official college battle song, "Here's to the Man Who Wears the I."

Roy Van Gundy of Chapin spent Thursday in Jacksonville on business.

Railroads Object to Tax Assessment
Judge James M. Barnes in county court Thursday morning heard objections of several railroads and colleges to certain assessments of the 1933 taxes, payable this year. After hearing arguments of several attorneys who cited numerous statutes in support of their objections, the court took the objections under advisement.

The Wabash, C. B. & Q. and Alton railroads entered objections to the county highway, tuberculosis sanitarium tax and certain portions of the city tax. Illinois and MacMurray Colleges claim exemption of certain property from taxation because it is owned by educational organizations.

State's Attorney W. H. Absher and City Attorney Orville Foreman appeared for the county and city, and the objectors were represented by several attorneys.

Junior High School Will Give Carnival
Parents and friends of the Junior High School are asked to save Oct. 19 for the fall Carnival to be held at the school. Miss Hester Burbridge, principal of the Junior High, announces that the Student Council is fully organized and that an important meeting was held Thursday morning, to make plans for the Carnival, which the whole family, from the older members to the very young, will enjoy.

Miss Mary Clampt is sponsor of the Council, which is composed of one member from each section, and is organized for making plans for projects and for the upholding of high standards and to promote all that is worthwhile in the school life.

General plans have been made and interest is running high over the hints of the features for the carnival evening. The "Sing-phony" band and the "Southern Warblers" will be there. Also the clowns and the "Big Southern Camel", in fact, "Fun, Foods and Amusements" is the order of the entertainment.

Posters will soon appear and on the festive night booths will be all over the building of the David Prince, Junior High. Every teacher and club will have a major activity and the committees will be announced later.

P. T. A. HOLDS ANNUAL MEET HERE THURSDAY

Association Work, Legislation Are Discussed at Conference

The District Conference of Parents and Teachers branch of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers met in annual conference Thursday at the Washington school.

Mrs. Ellsworth Black, district director, presided and opened the meeting, introducing Superintendent R. O. Stoops, who welcomed the delegates and expressed his great interest in the association, also his belief that the work of the organization was becoming more important each year.

Reports by district officers and chairmen were made and many plans were suggested for the coming months. During the session musical numbers were given by pupils of Miss Lena Hopper, supervisor of music in the Jacksonville schools, which was a splendid feature of the program.

An executive board meeting was carried out by the Junior High school association with Mrs. Frederick C. Cato, president, in charge. This was a unique demonstration of the actual work transacted at a board meeting and was comprehensive in its details.

Talks on Legislation
Following a "Question Box" which was enjoyed by the audience the meeting adjourned for luncheon at the Congregational church.

During the noon hour, Mrs. Ellsworth Black as presiding officer introduced Mrs. Paul E. Madden, state chairman of legislation, who gave an instructive talk upon legislative measures, which will be brought up in January, when the general assembly will convene.

Mrs. Madden stressed the fact that each group should make a study of the issues and not follow blindly, for in that case more harm was done. She cited the pilgrimage made to Springfield by organized teachers as not succeeding as well as the leaders had hoped. The speaker brought out the point that there is no other country in the world which has more legislative measures and no other where they are less observed. A few articles of legislation will succeed and go further than many.

In her remarks, Mrs. Madden called attention to the importance of one of the issues, which will come up in the November election, whether or not a constitutional convention should be held to amend the Constitution. She advised instruction in voting, for many measures are lost through failure to vote correctly. She also pointed out that the state distributive fund will be urged. A larger school fund from the state will decrease the taxes, in that the state pays a larger proportion of the cost of the schools. The speaker said that since the State of Illinois is third in wealth and thirty-seventh in percentage of the amount given to the state school fund, proper study would evolve other sources than taxes, which would solve this important problem. She further stated that no parent should allow the educational structure to decline, for it cannot lapse and then be suddenly renewed. The Parent-Teacher association endorses a larger school unit and a firmer stand upon the eight month minimum school year.

Emphasizes Better Laws
The speaker emphasized better laws for children, in every branch of the child-welfare work and during her remarks spoke of the importance of continued efforts for the "Women On Juries" bill; "Shorter Working Hours For Women"; "Civil Service and the Merit System," as mandatory.

Mrs. Madden as state chairman of legislation asked for cooperation with all committees in efforts to pass legislation, naming the motion picture, "Home Makers Humane Education" (for the children, in institutions as well as in the treatment of animals), also the "Drivers License Law," which has been worked out in other states, could be worked out in Illinois.

In conclusion, the speaker advised friendly relations with legislators and a dignified approach to their offices. She called attention to the fact that the Parent-Teacher Association has the respect of all, because of its dignity and loyalty to purpose.

During a brief round-table discussion the motion picture question was brought up and various points of interest were mentioned by Mrs. Madden, Superintendent R. O. Stoops and Mrs. Black. Dr. Stoops commended the spirit of the churches and urged cooperation by other organizations in forming public opinion.

Mrs. Black spoke of the local theater as cooperating in the choice of shorter films and in other ways.

Afternoon Session at Washington School
At the afternoon session, Mrs. Ellsworth Black, presiding officer, graciously opened the meeting and introduced the Treble Clef club of the Jacksonville High school, which sang two beautiful numbers, directed by Miss Lena Hopper, supervisor of music.

Following the musical numbers, Mrs. Edwin Nichols, press and periodical publicity chairman gave a most comprehensive talk upon publicity. She dealt with her subject in an interesting and instructive manner, showing a complete understanding from the angles of the general public. She stressed the point that publicity means progress, or the state of going forward and illustrated this by quoting, Richard Mansfield, who said, "I love children, their interests are my day and of tomorrow—I love children."

Mrs. Nichols believes that the Parent-Teacher organizations broaden their service, through various kinds of publicity, and "spread out the good things in life along the way to be understood and enjoyed by others."

Summing up, the speaker said that the work of the organization must be sent forth in this manner, for the "world moves forward on the feet of children."

The second speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. Dan Pagenta, the state chairman of the National Parent-Teachers' Magazine who held the

CHANDLERVILLE H. S. STUDENTS NAME OFFICERS

Homecoming Day is Observed; Other Chandlerville News Notes

Chandlerville, Sept. 27.—Chandlerville community high school class officers for the coming year have been elected and with their advisors are working toward the year's class activities. Senior officers with Miss Dorothy Wilson as advisor are president, George Vollmers; vice-president, Louis Jurgens; secretary-treasurer, Helen Mae Johnson.

Coach M. O. McMullen is junior advisor. The junior officers are as follows: president, Edward Harbison; vice-president, Russell Weaver; secretary-treasurer, Vivian Garner. Miss Lucy Giger is sophomore class advisor. The officers are, president, Marion Dutsch; vice-president, Wayne Allerberry; secretary, Catherine Taylor. Miss Helen Stewart is freshman advisor. The officers are, president, Marie King; vice-president, Merle King; secretary-treasurer, Stella Harris.

Features for Homecoming day, planned for the Sunset Carnival week, were thoroughly dampened Wednesday, when the rain descended at noon.

During a rainless hour, the Ruben band paraded from the postoffice corner into the park where a short program was given. Members of the band in freak make up and costumes provided merriment.

Louis Clegg and Allen T. Lucas played their sopranos in a rag bag collection of assorted clothing. Charles Cherry played as a combination Mexican minstrel musician. W. W. Ritchie played a trick saxophone and when out of breath, a bass drum. Rufus Murphy trumpeted along as a string bean snare drummer. Albert Lintner in a plumed hat and gay kimono posed as a lady bass horn artist. Ivan Lintner appeared to be a shipwrecked cast away tooting away on a trombone. Dr. W. C. Harper played his cornet in flapping pajamas.

News Notes
Members of the C. S. C. held a sale Wednesday afternoon at the Carl building. Mrs. B. F. Carr was in charge of the work assisted by Mrs. A. T. Lucas, Mrs. Charles Cherry, Mrs. W. W. Mullin, Mrs. H. A. Plunket, Mrs. Roy Sours, Mrs. E. O. Blair, Mrs. Rufus Murphy, Mrs. Clyde Carr and Mrs. C. Nelson.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorene Arthony of Vineland are spending the week here operating a lunch stand during carnival week.

Miss Mary Louise Taylor spent the week-end at her home near Hickory returning to MacMurray College Monday.

Chandlerville young people attending school elsewhere are Wilma Milstead, Brown's Business College, Springfield; Emma Mae Blair, Brown's Business College, Jacksonville; Helen Miller, senior, University of Illinois; Mary Louise Taylor and Mary Louise Dorr, MacMurray College, Jacksonville; Wayne Armstrong, Eureka; Herbert Pfeil, Brown's Business College, Peoria.

Miss Frederika Wilson, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Fred Wilson, formerly of Chandlerville is a scholarship member of MacMurray College freshman class from Vermont, Illinois high school. In her placement examination, Miss Wilson won the honor of being admitted to a selected class in creative writing on the basis of superior ability in English.

Warlick formerly stationed at Chandlerville, Ball, Newmanville circuit is a Junior at MacMurray College, majoring in Public school music, a transfer from Illinois Wesleyan. Rev. Myers a former Methodist pastor here entered his daughter, Myrtle at MacMurray this semester, also an honor student.

CRABTREE TO SPEAK AT P. T. A. MEETING
Rev. F. M. Crabtree, of Jacksonville will be the speaker on the program to be given at the Lynnville school-house tonight by the Lynnville P. T. A. The meeting, which will be called at 7:30 o'clock, will be devoted particularly to outlining the work of the P. T. A. Committees which will serve during the year must be appointed.

Several special musical numbers are on the program for tonight, and the students of the school will present a short program.

J. L. FIESER TO SPEAK AT RED CROSS MEETING

Vice-chairman of National Body to Attend Conference Here Next Week

James L. Fieser, vice-chairman in charge of domestic operations of the American Red Cross will make an address at the Roll Call Regional Conference to be held here next week. Mr. Fieser is assistant to the chairman, Judge Payne.

Mr. Fieser is a veteran of more than a score of years of administrative and disaster service with the Red Cross. During this period in addition to general direction of the entire Red Cross program in the United States in all fields he has lent a helping hand to victims of nearly a thousand small catastrophes and a dozen or more of major proportions.

Through the last twelve years—the busiest in the peace-time history of the Red Cross—Mr. Fieser has been ranking vice chairman and in charge of all activities in the continental United States. He was one of the youngest men ever to assume such an important post in a national social service organization. His experiences have run to gamut from flood to drought, from tornado to earthquake. Never is there a year without 60 to 100 disasters. Up and down the raging waters of the wild Mississippi he rode in 1927, in company with Herbert Hoover, then secretary of commerce. Out into the burned lands of the 23 drought states in 1930 and again into the seared Dakotas and Montana a year later, went the vice chairman to see that the vast Red Cross job was done right. Through the years thousands have come to know him personally and hundreds of thousands of others have benefitted because of efficient Red Cross ministrations.

Mr. Fieser's introduction to the Red Cross was in 1913 when one of the great floods of history called at his doorstep and literally washed him into a career. That was the Ohio Valley inundation, sometimes known as the Dayton flood, which took a sudden three-mile sweep through populated territory, costing many lives and the loss of millions in property. Young Fieser, a social worker executive in Columbus, and former Hoover schoolmate was drafted to have charge of relief activities at that point. He thereupon acquired his first experience in directing the rescue of people out of tree tops and upper-story windows, placing them in safe quarters where they were fed and otherwise cared for, and initiating a program of rehabilitation. Perhaps his most prized possession is a certificate of commendation for Ohio flood relief work in 1913, signed by Woodrow Wilson, then President of the United States and of the Red Cross. James M. Cox, then governor, later made him a member of the Ohio State Council of Defense in recognition of the public service rendered. After five months of work directing rehabilitation, he returned to his normal activities in social work and then in the chamber of commerce field.

Early in 1917 the future vice chairman helped to organize the first Columbus Chapter of the Red Cross and push the first local war fund campaign to success. A few months later and he had cast his lot permanently with the national organization as director of all civilian work in the old Lake division comprising the states of Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky. Successively, he became associate director or general of civilian relief work in the United States; assistant general manager, manager of the Southwest-ern division and finally vice chairman in charge of domestic operations—a post he has held continuously since 1922.

From Columbus, Ohio, in 1913, Mr. Fieser has stepped to intimate acquaintance with economic, health and social conditions throughout the country. He has visited every state in the Union and most of its cities large and small. He admits, however, that he usually sees the beauty spots of the Nation at their worst, after they have been hit by storm.

Real and Imagined Suspects

One of the most remarkable coincidences of the Lindbergh kidnapping case is the resemblance of Bruno Hauptmann, indicted suspect, to the imaginary kidnaper whose likeness was drawn by a Washington artist for the Department of Justice from descriptions furnished by Dr. John (Jafie) Condon and Joseph Perrone, cab driver, the only persons known to have been in touch with the culprits. The artist's sketches and pictures of Hauptmann in similar poses are shown above for comparison.

SENATOR SEARCY ASKS FOR SHOWDOWN
Carlinville.—Before a crowded meeting, held at the Elks club this afternoon under the auspices of the Mac-coupin County Women's Republican organization, State Senator Earl B. Searcy, Springfield, the chief speaker, declared:

"Show-down time has come. Tax-payers will demand henceforth to know whether the myriad of costly experiments of government have been promoted in the interests of Mr. Taxpayer, supporter of government, or of a bally-hooping mob of needless political pyrologers, actuated by a secret ambition to ride this country into some form of communism."

Members of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission this week have stated that the Illinois relief cost for October will be twice what it was for October of last year. Is this prodigious forecast true? Responsible members of the Commission made the prediction, so I assume we must accept it. But, if it is true, what does it mean? Is the Illinois relief problem twice as acute as it was a year ago? If people are "better off" than they were, as certain demagogues have claimed, why this shocking step-up, the month before election, in relief? Is it that people are actually that much worse off, or is it Tammany openly asserting itself, in pursuit of its long established custom of buying up elections? The people who pay this bill have a right to know the answer, and they will know it. In addition to that, I don't believe Illinois citizenship is for sale.

"Farm prosperity has got to come before the rest of the country can reason. But, farm recovery won't come as long as politically-spent processing taxes are collected. If that money were returned to farmers, so they could put it back into the soil, then they might get somewhere as matters stand, farm prices are held at a comparatively low level by tariff beat-trayals; while, on the other hand, their substance is taken from them in taxes. Continuance of this scheme will mean but one thing—complete ruin."

Among the speakers was Mrs. Alma B. Fringer, of Rockford, state chairman of Republican women. Mrs. Amanda Haffter was secretary of the meeting.

DEMOCRATIC CLUB MEETS, TALKS ISSUES

Jeffersonian Members Discuss Campaign at Thursday Session

Democratic candidates for county offices, fresh from a round of fried chicken and soup suppers, shared the spotlight on the speaking program last night at a largely attended meeting of the Jeffersonian club. Engaging in a bit of repartee about the feasts they have been devouring, one of the campaigners admitted that he has put on several pounds in the last week. But the candidates did not joke long, for they got down to business when the first speaker mentioned the November election.

Five of the six Democratic candidates were at the meeting, the other nominee being detained on another engagement. The county ticket was presented to the audience gathered in the circuit court room. Each member of the ticket had a word to say as to why he believes he can successfully fill the office he seeks.

The county candidates were roundly applauded by the crowd. Other speakers on the program referred to them as "the foundation of the ticket."

"If these men are not elected in November the campaign will not be a success, even though Democrats are elected to district and state offices," one of the speakers admonished.

Henry B. Strawn of Murphysboro, appearing as the principal speaker of the evening, stressed the necessity of Democrats electing their local candidates.

"This is not merely a campaign to elect a Democrat and beat a Republican," he said. "It is a campaign to carry on a definite work, a work that was started two years ago when that great man was sent to the White House, and Democrats were elected to thousands of other offices throughout the land."

"The future of the nation itself rests with the men you elect to office. The county ticket is the very foundation of the makeup of our government. It is up to the Jeffersonian clubs, to all other Democratic organizations to see that this work goes on."

Thompson Presides.
Max Thompson, president of the local club, was in the chair at last night's session with Edward May serving as secretary. It was an organization meeting but there was talk by the county candidates.

The chairman called on Thomas Loneragan for a report on the State Jeffersonian Club convention held at Olney, Sept. 15. Mr. Loneragan reported a largely attended and enthusiastic gathering, which was addressed by several prominent party leaders including Bruce A. Campbell and John Stelle. Others who spoke from the county included Edward May, Miles Fitzpatrick, Milton Seymour and Sam Hawkins.

Eyed Brookhouse, candidate for county clerk, was the first member of the county ticket introduced by the chairman. Mr. Brookhouse has served two terms as clerk and is well known to voters of the county.

He called attention to the two registration days, October 16 and October 30. On the first registration day the judges meet at the polling places and make up their lists. On the last registration day the judges remain at the polls all day, and persons not registered should go there in person.

The chairman said that a supply of absentee voters' ballots will be available soon. Applications for absentee voters' ballots may be made as far as 30 days in advance of the election.

Victor M. Sheppard, candidate for county superintendent of schools, said he has been encouraged by reports from various precincts as the campaign progresses. He predicted the election of the entire Democratic ticket.

Mr. Sheppard said he is running upon his qualifications and experience as an educator. He is a graduate of Jacksonville High school, of Illinois College and received
